

Greetings:

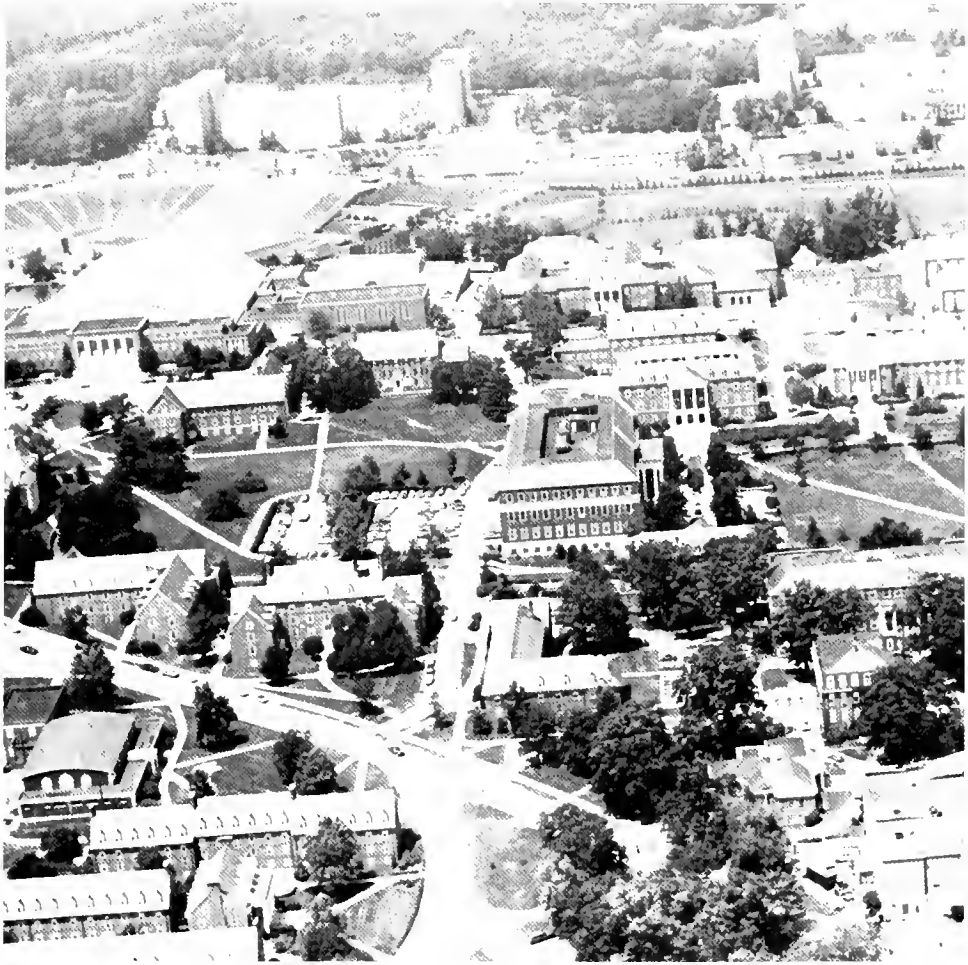

35,000 students converge on the University of Maryland's College Park campus at the beginning of each semester. They come from many places and arrive through various means. Why they come and what happens when they get there remains to be seen.

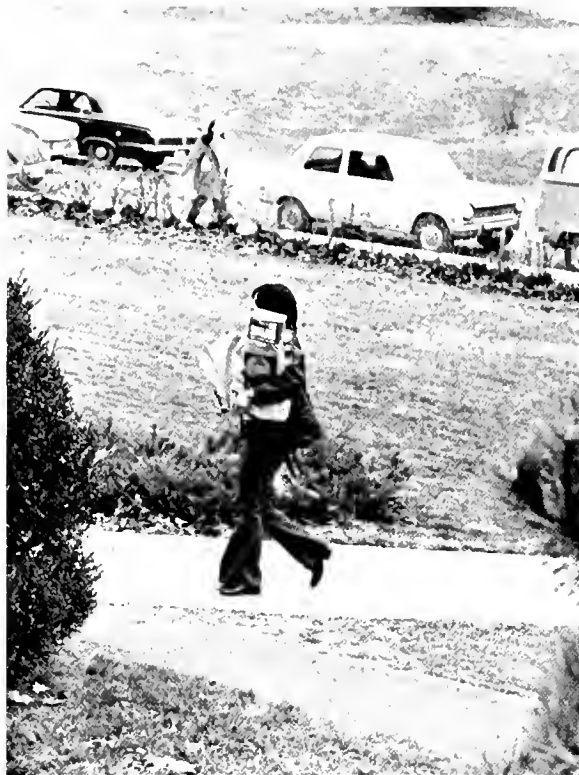

Freshman There is inadequate parking around the dorms and the parking available is usually too far away for moving in or out. Students have to lug refrigerators, stereos, TVs, food, etc. for long distances, and if they park in the fire lanes while moving in, the campus police will ticket the cars and threaten to tow them away. In the complexes, if the elevators are broken on moving day — it's a disaster. Have you ever tried to lug a refrigerator, stereo or TV up nine floors?

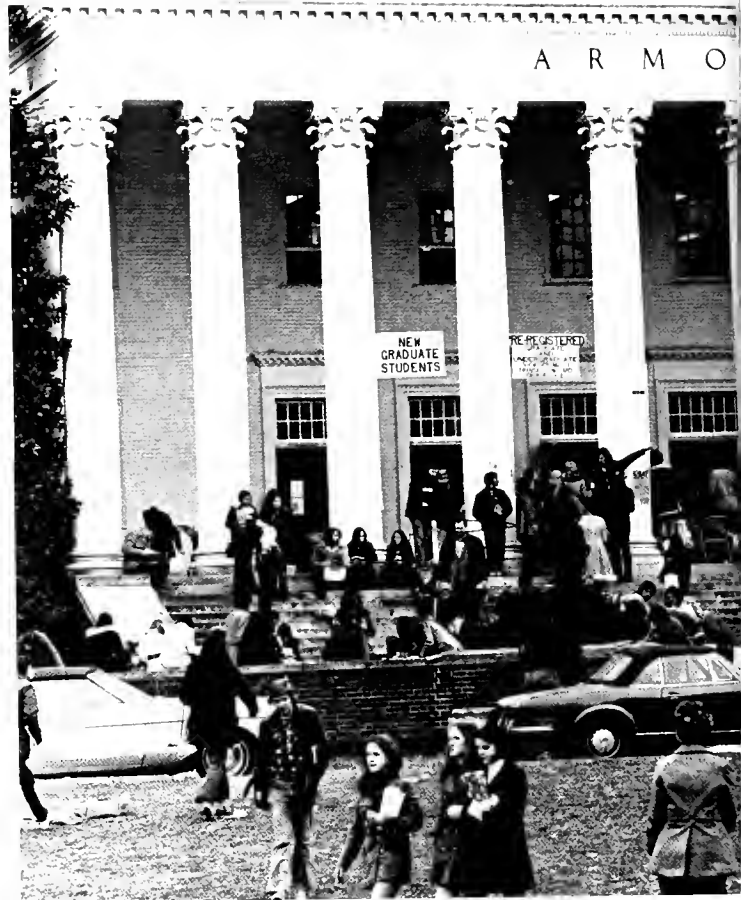

Freshman "Moving into the dorm for the first time can be a really lonely experience. I didn't know anybody. It helps if people are friendly, but it's really up to you. You can't just sit in your room and expect to make friends. You have to get out and meet people."

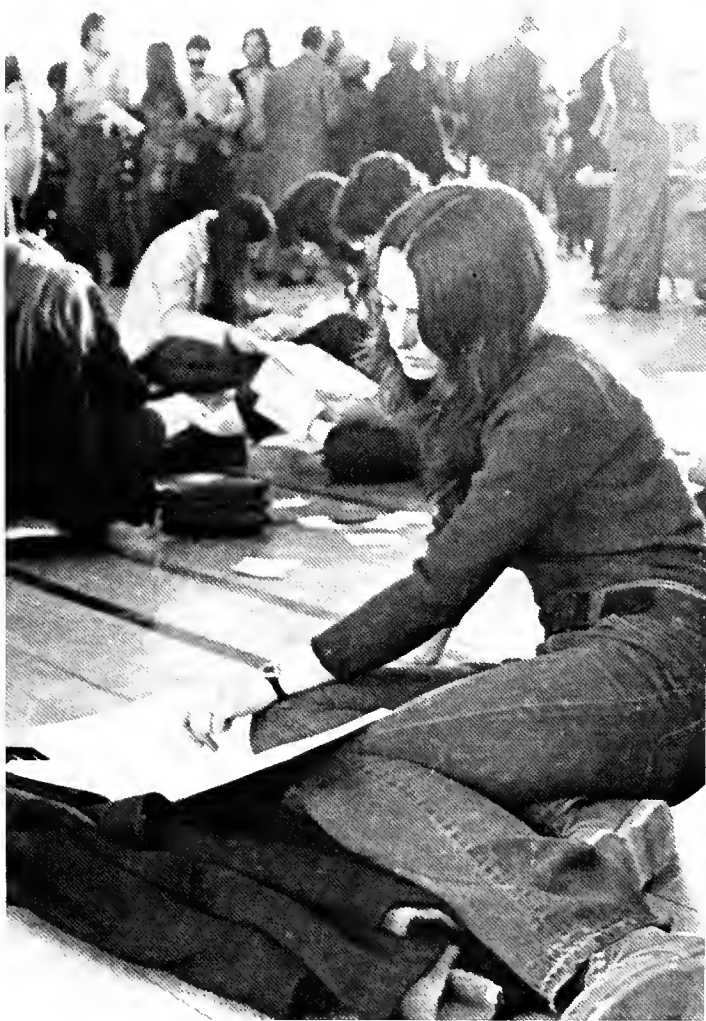

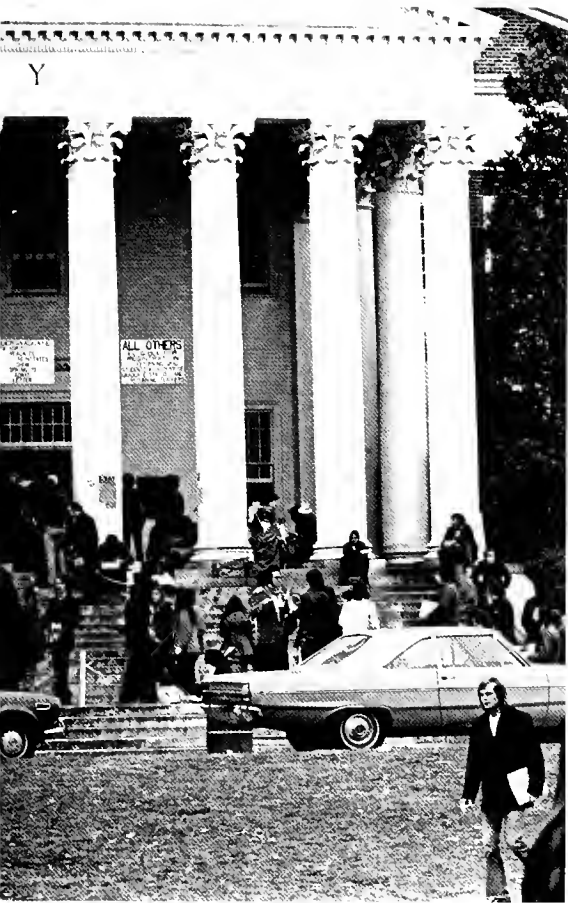

Senior "The registration is great because it is a more sensible way of handling large groups of students. However, the programmers leave much to be desired."

Junior "Pre registration is one of the best changes I've seen at the University. Dropping and adding in the Armory is still no fun, but at least it is not as crowded as it used to be. Once a student is taking more specialized courses in his major, pre-registration works better — but it is still rough trying to get into general education courses."

Junior: "The bookstore is always the most disorganized at the beginning of a semester when it's most crowded. There should be a better classification system in the Umporium so it'd be easier to find the books."

Freshman: "You have to look at both sides of the problem. The publishing companies rip off the bookstores, so they have no choice. If there were no bookstores on campus, we'd all go crazy trying to get our books – especially without a car."

Junior "When you move into a dorm you realize you're not in your own little world any longer. There are people out there. You can't just stay in your room. It's a good place to meet people, make friends, But it's up to you because you're on your own. You can make whatever you want out of it."

The Dream of the Land of UM

Close your eyes for a minute let the purple shadows tickle
the back of your eyelids
let the colors spin round and round forming dream bubbles in your mind let your hands beckon to the sun feel the cool green grass tickling your toes
feel your whole body warm, vibrant, alive

now open your eyes
no, this is not a fantasy
it is yours
it can be whatever you dream look bubbles, bubbles in the air bubbles, bubbles everywhere look there on the hill, near the mall let the winding yellow brick road lead you to where we'll spin a dream of great men with power sitting in their offices during office hours men who have published and lectured and read men who like the ivy on these brick walls belong to the dream world of cluttered offices committees and reports

we'll dream of fortresses at the end of the mall filled with the greatest men of all who make wise decisions and lead us along the yellow brick road to scholardom where we will be like them great speakers of wisdom and knowledge who will lead the people to a new and better world come, follow the song . . .

Let the wind lift us up into its arms
 we are free . . . alive . . .
 beautiful
 we can dance, swirl
 throw a frisbee
 high in the air
 or draw on the sidewalks with bright colors
 large and bold and daring.

Come with me
 take me by the hand
 we'll walk over yonder in the green, green grass.
 Together we'll follow every winding path and cast a double shadow in the setting sun.
 We'll walk together in a barefoot world feeling the music of mud between our toes
 the slippery grass against our skin
 the tingle of toes in icy rain water we'll laugh at the tumbling leaves that tickle our noses and knees

On Saturday morning the beat changes shouts, cheers, the noise of a band.
Thousands of voices screaming,
all announcing the entrance of the team.
Come sit among friends, old and new,
packed tightly in the stands and watch athletes and fans alike roar out at a kick from Mike-Mayer's toe.

Listen you can almost hear the drums beat and the horns playing the songs of the land of UM.
Cheerleaders in red and white jumping higher, higher reaching for the clouds trying to grasp the sky.

The echo of the ball beating on the court throbbing, pulsating, beating and sailing through the air settling with a swish perfectly through the metal hoop of the basket.
 A circle of players in the center of the court
 A tap — the players reaching higher, higher.
 The highest taps the ball in play and again they move together up the court, back and forth from basket to basket trying to beat the clock.

pushing, pulling, shoving, sticking out tickets and ID cards watching from high above to the little court below flood lights and screaming and cheering and pleading watching that round brown ball as it bounces and bounces, thumping on the court.
Faster than the eye it moves from hand to hand back and forth, round and round it moves.
One vast perpetual motion until the buzzer stops the action.

The Dream of the Land of UM

I dreamed, I dreamed of all these things,
of students, faculty, administrations athletics, coaches and fans of studying, relaxing, loving

I dreamed I could be an innocent child again and make my castles out of mud
the mad, murky, mucky mud
the boobing, blurbing, bumbling mud that all the world is made of yes, I dreamed that we were all little gods students, faculty, administration that could take this bleeding mud watch it squirm and wiggle between our fingers and mold a man of fresh-made mud not the kind of crud man is now made of.

I dreamed of a land where peace was like a passion and war was unheard of a land where love reigned all where people were trusted because they were human and no one was left to live all alone
no one, no one, not even the clown

I dreamed we each stepped inside a bubble
a clear blue crystal bubble high and flying over the earth spreading beauty everywhere
I dreamed my life could be a bubble free and floating students, scholars, wisemen all in our bubbles free

I dreamed . . . I dreamed . . . I dreamed . . .

Junior: "Watch out for parents who pop in and surprise you with early Sunday morning visits."

Senior: "It depends on who wakes me up."

Senior: "It took me four years to wise up. I used to take all 8:00's and just couldn't handle getting up at 7 a.m. — but now my first class starts at 2 p.m. and I wear ear-plugs."

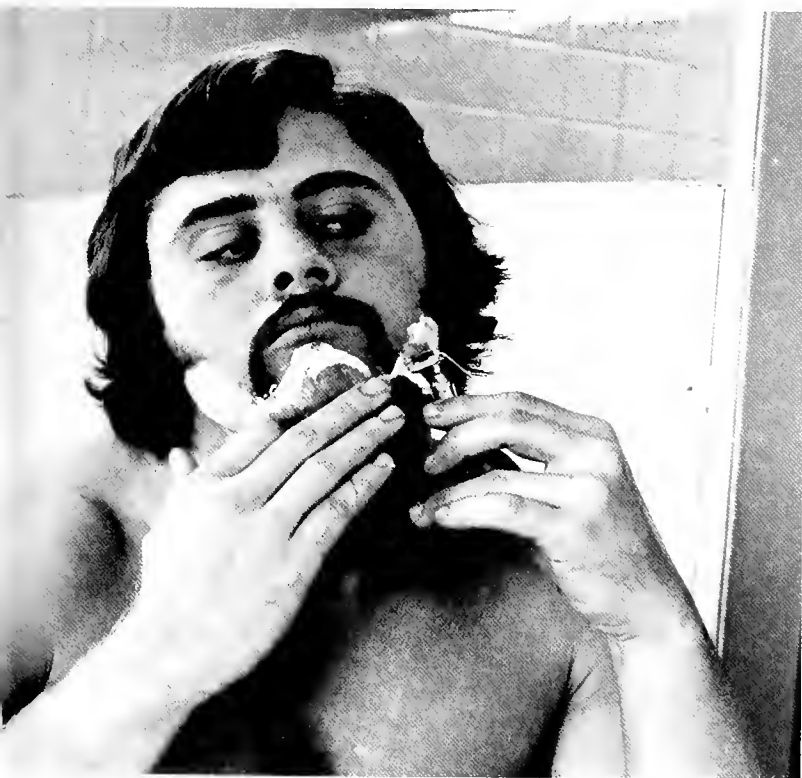

Junior: "Some of the best literary art produced on campus is produced on the walls of bathroom stalls."

Sophomore: "They should install newspaper racks in the stalls and put the Diamondback in them. That's a good place for it."

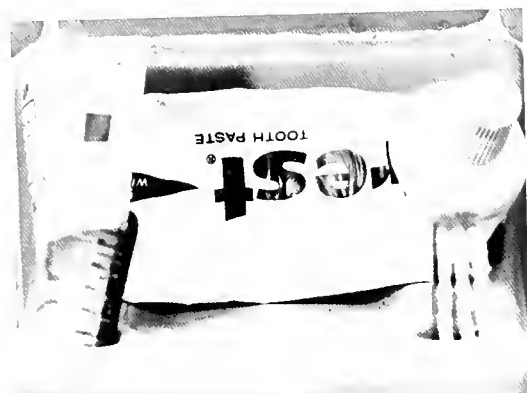

Sophomore: "Everybody looks so funny in the bathroom with their eyes half open and their hair all messed up."

Senior: "It's hell living next to the bathroom and waking up to the music of flushing toilets."

Junior: "The other day I took a shower and all this brown water and crap came out of the spigot."

Senior: "The shower doors have been broken for four years now."

Senior: "Hell is: taking a shower and someone flushes the toilet and you get scalded; taking a shower and remembering you forgot your towel; having someone in the shower stall next to you at 6 a.m. who can't carry a tune."

Freshman: "Getting up in the morning is all right until halfway through the shower the hot water cuts out."

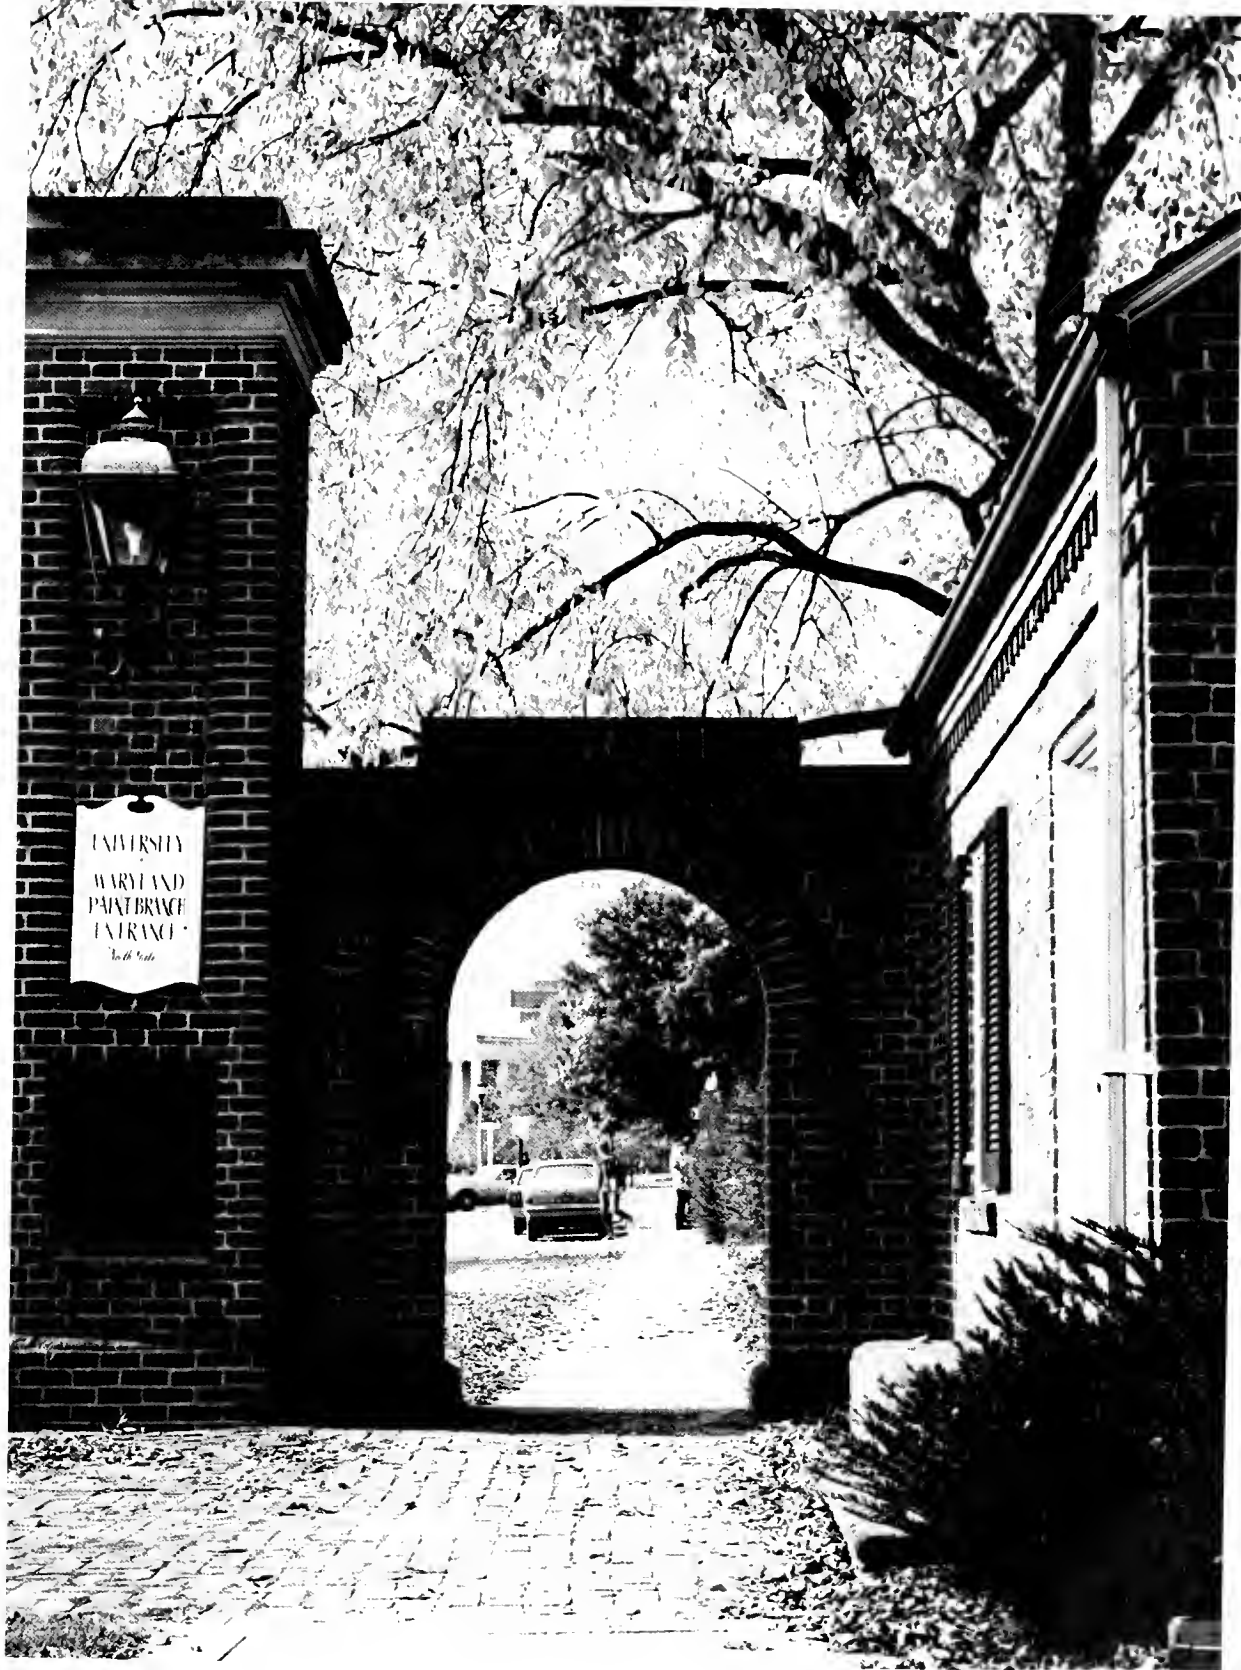

Senior: "In yoga we teach that the greatest energy of the day is when the sun comes up. I get up every morning and watch the sunrise and do yoga exercises. It's beautiful and I feel great all day."

Senior: "Early, at sunrise, campus is quiet, only the echo of lonely footsteps, the soft cooing of pigeons, the sun rising over the chapel steeple."

Freshman: morning means rush hour — thousands of cars coming from all directions — like termites out of the woodwork — descending on campus — fighting for parking spaces — and faces rushing off towards class.

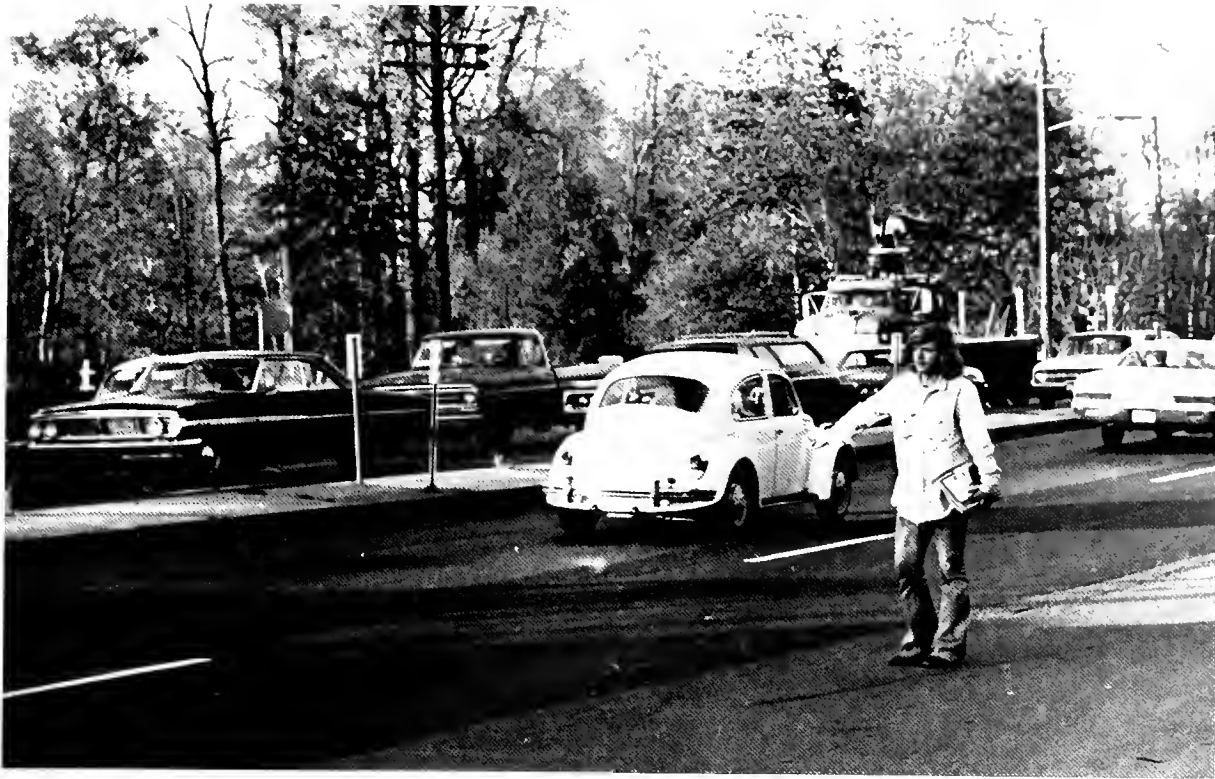

Parking problems:

Sophomore: "I think the parking is awful. I was assigned to parking lot two and I think I've parked there about three times this whole semester. Most of the time I park in the Student Union garage or park illegally in lot one."

Freshman: "I have to walk about 20 minutes to get to my class and there's nothing you can do about it. It's just terrible; in the rain, it's BAD."

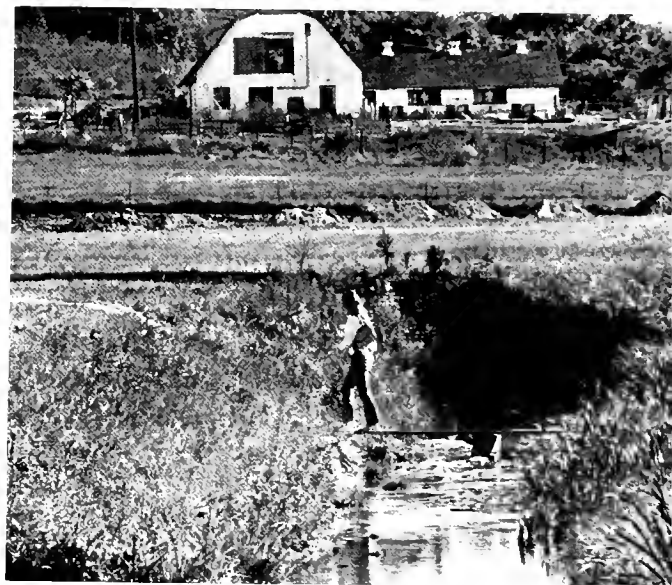

Bicycling:

Freshman: "When you ride a bike you face several problems, one of which is that you're in one lane and you've got gravel on the right side of you, and then there's this car that's trying to pass you in the same lane without going over to the next one, blowing his horn. The result is that I'm forced off the road. The worst people in this respect are bus drivers and truck drivers. It's terrifying to hear the loud roar of the engines in back of you. It sounds like they're going to run you down and they blow their huge horns time and time again and sneer at you as you lie in the gutter."

Sophomore: "When I bike to campus I have to go up that hill on University Boulevard which is a bummer. But coming home, I ride down the hill behind the University apartments (on University Boulevard) and it's really glorious, exciting and FAST! That's the best part about biking to campus – the ride home. I'm scared to death riding through the traffic on Campus Drive though, especially around 4:30 p.m. You can't really trust the drivers. And sometimes you can hold traffic up because the car behind you is afraid to pass you. That's one reason why the University should have separate bike lanes or paths."

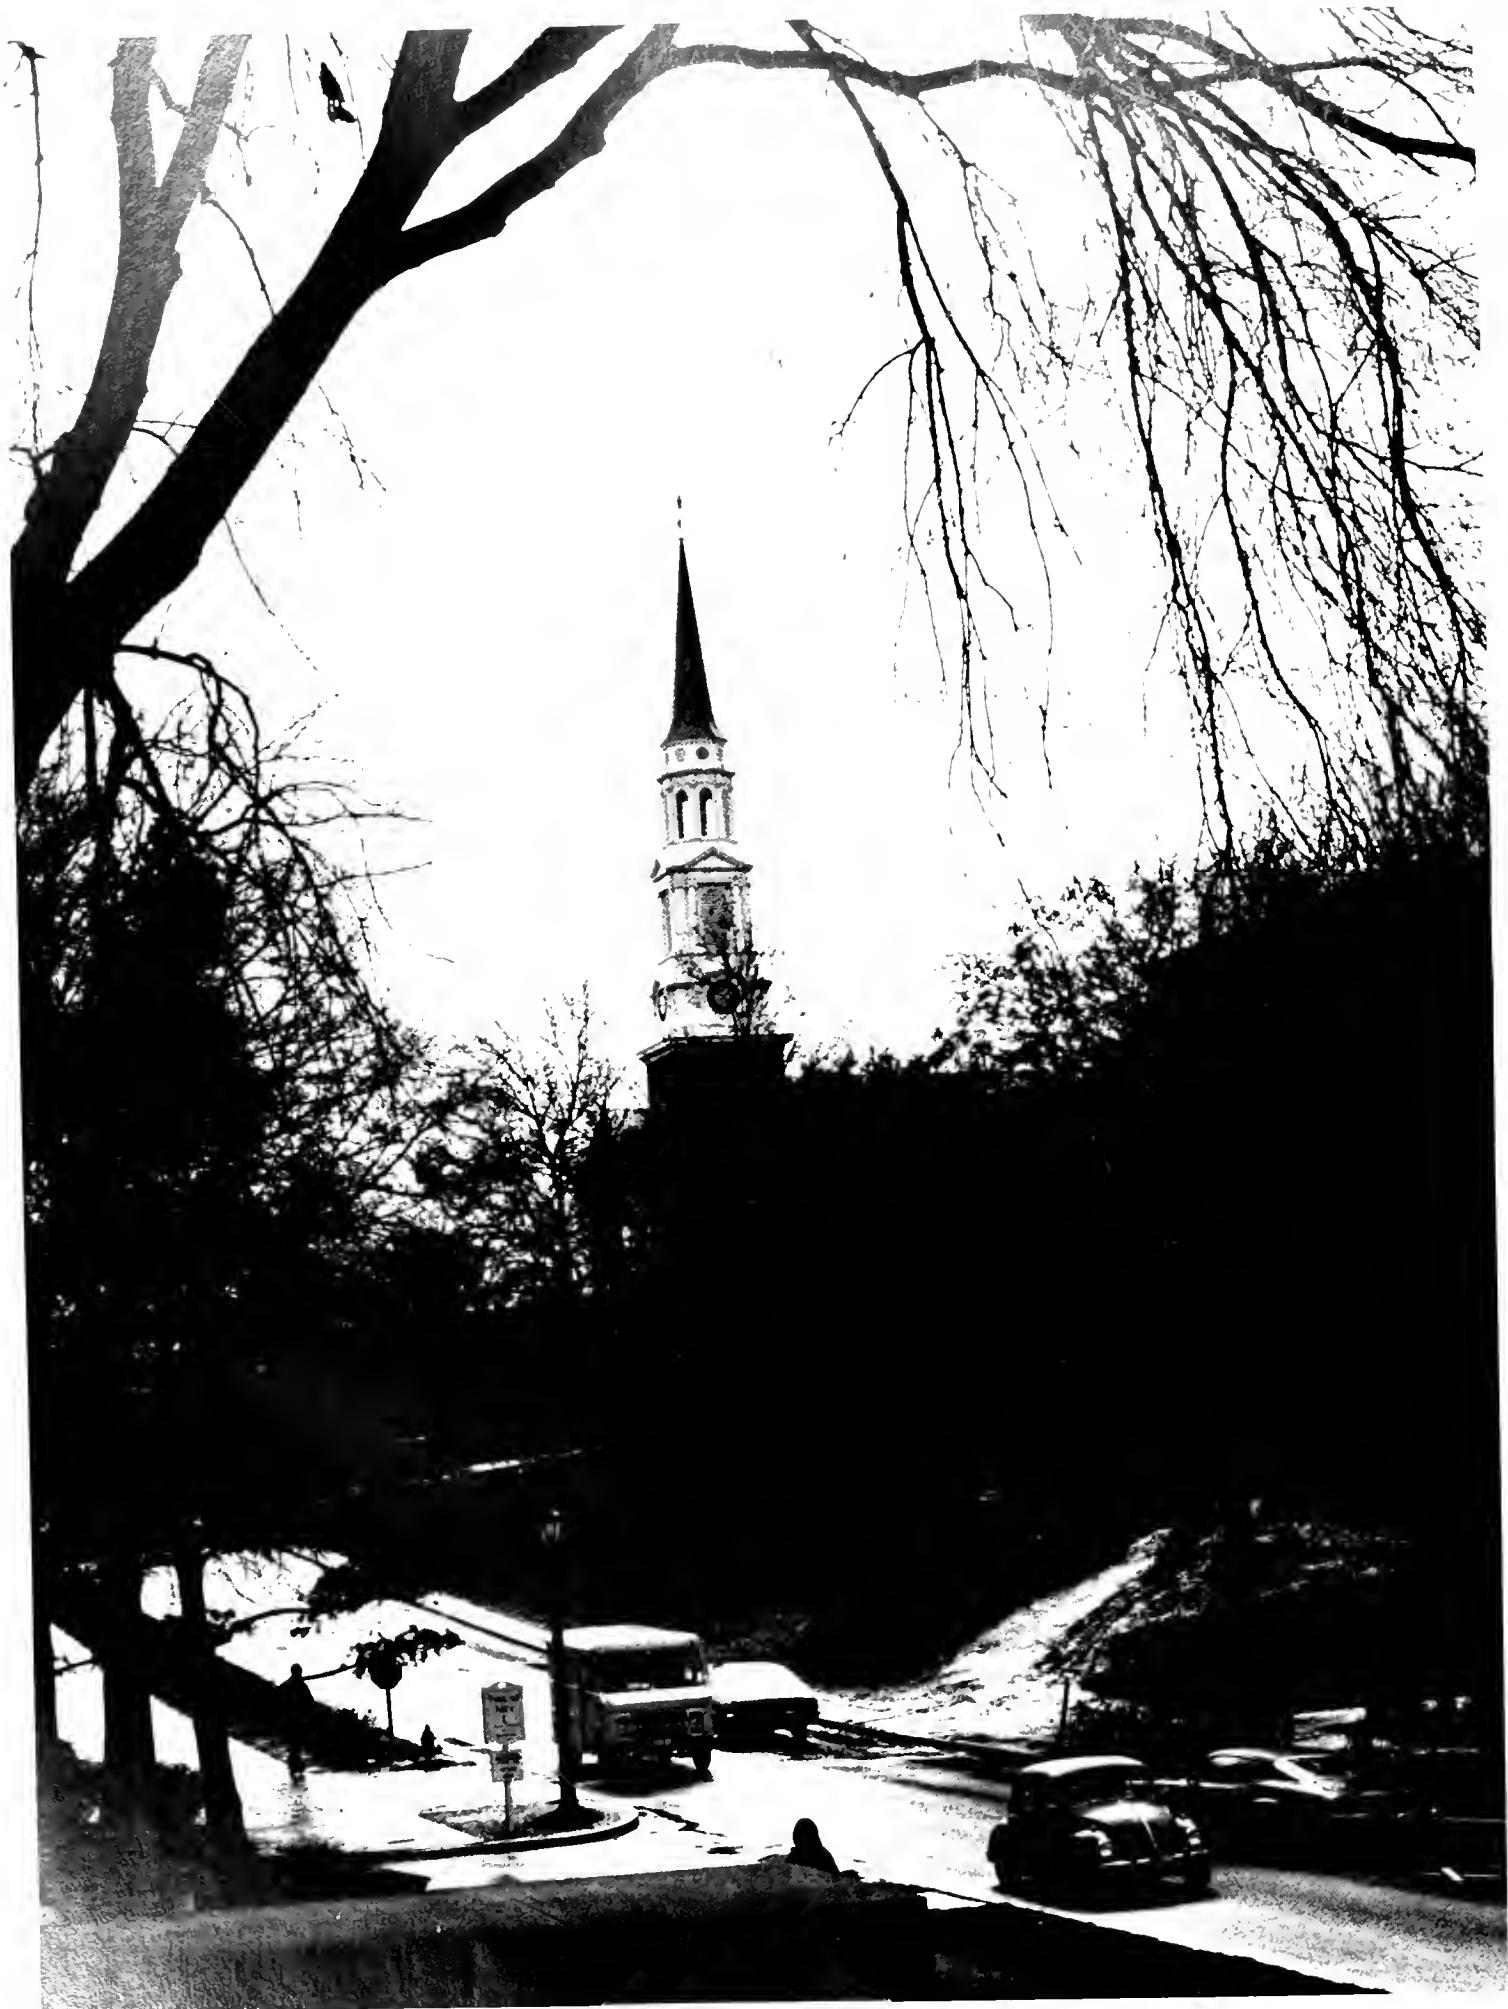

Student parking:

Senior: "For students, I think it's ridiculous. They assign more than one car per space on the assumption that not everybody will be here at the same time. My first semester as a full-time student I paid $30 in parking fines, most of them from my assigned lot."

What do you think of the campus?

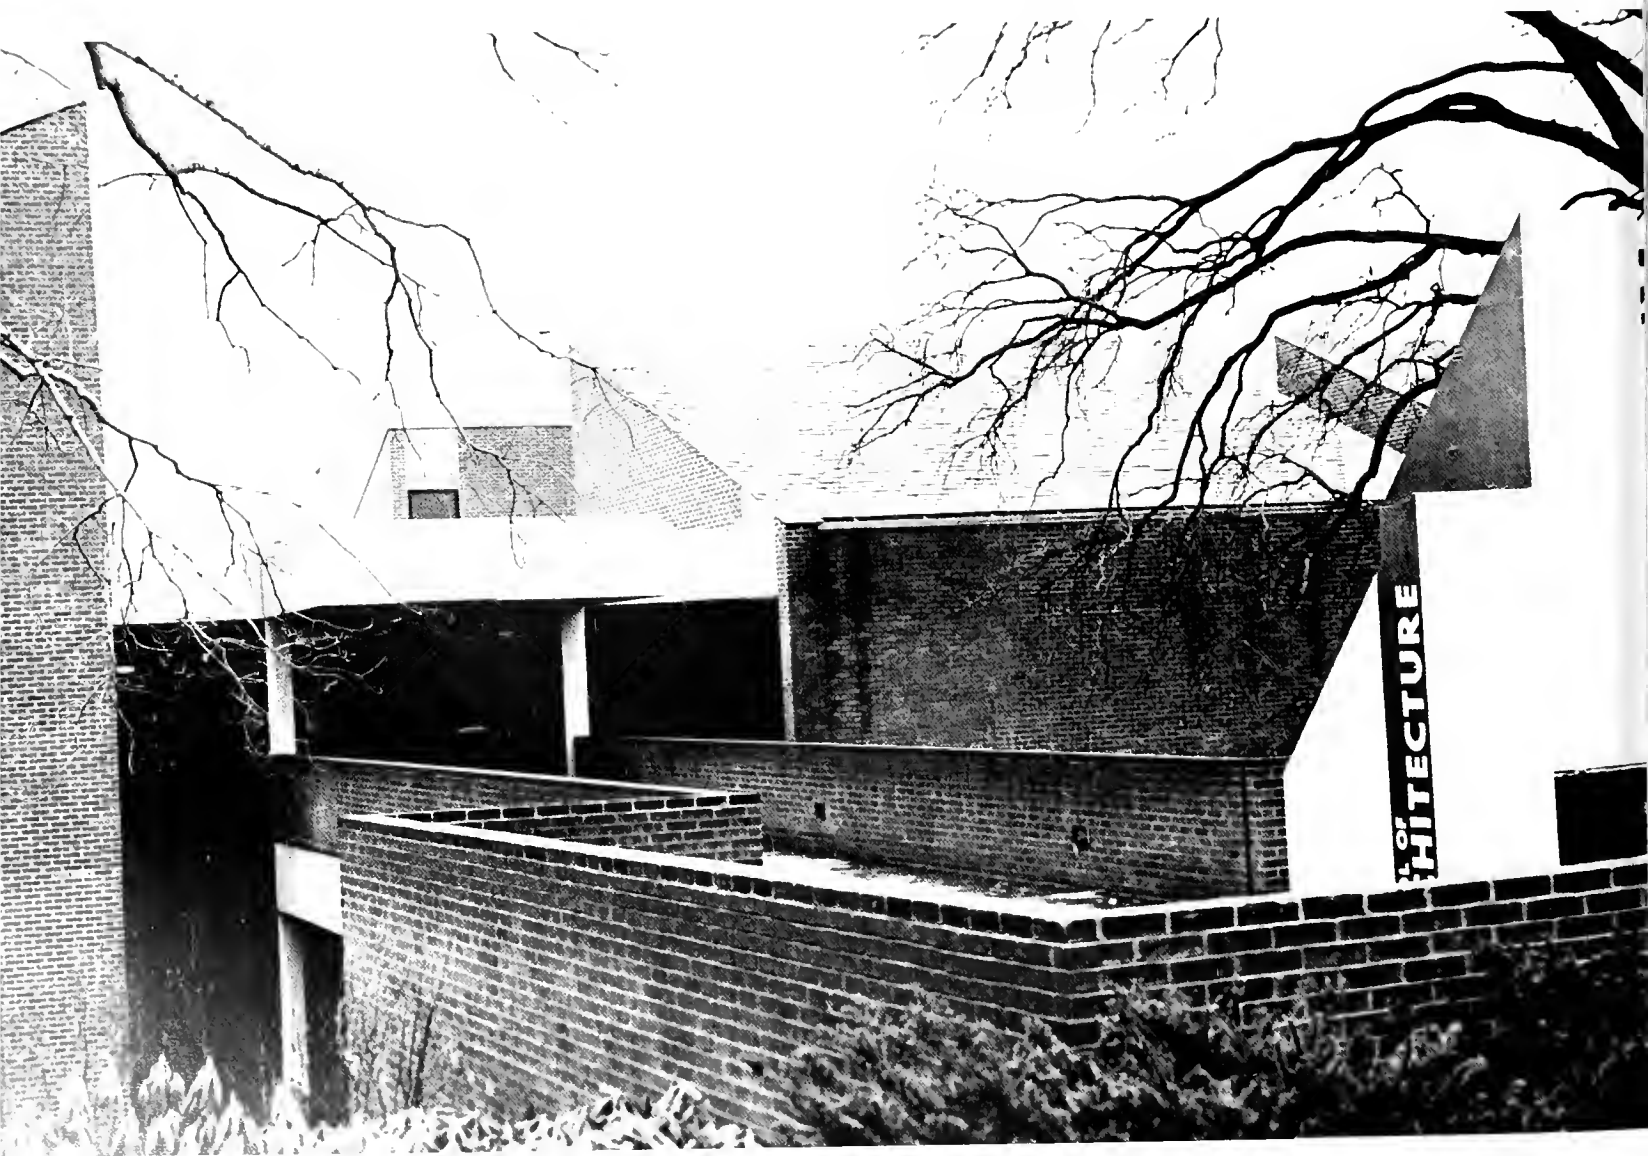

Freshman: "I think the campus is beautiful. I like the architecture, the lawns or acreage; the way it's set up."

Sophomore: "The campus is very boring, visually speaking. The only building which is visually exciting is the architecture building. And what's more, it's depressing to be in the buildings, except for the architecture building."

Sophomore: "There is one building that fascinates me in its interior planning and that is Tawes. You could be somewhere in there once, and never find it again. And nobody knows the place well enough to give you directions on how to get somewhere else in the building."

Senior: "The computers went wild on the new room numbers. In the Journalism building they even numbered the water fountains. I don't think any one likes the new system because all over campus the doors have masking tape with the old numbers beside the white plastic new ones."

Freshman: "I tell you, the people never throw away their trash. It's a disgusting place to relax – you'd think people would have more self-respect. There are ample cans provided."

What about classroom conditions?

Fifth year senior: "As a left-handed person I would like to complain about the fact that this entire university has only four left-handed desks."

Junior: "The conditions of the classrooms depend on when they were built, I guess. There are a lot of really nice classrooms on campus, and there are a lot of really rotten ones."

Sophomore: "It's really strange the variety of conditions you'll find in campus classrooms. I mean, you'll have one class in a room that's carpeted, good accoustics, a movie screen that works and so on. Then you'll have your next class in an echoey room that they must have forgotten to finish building – very stark and plain, y'know?"

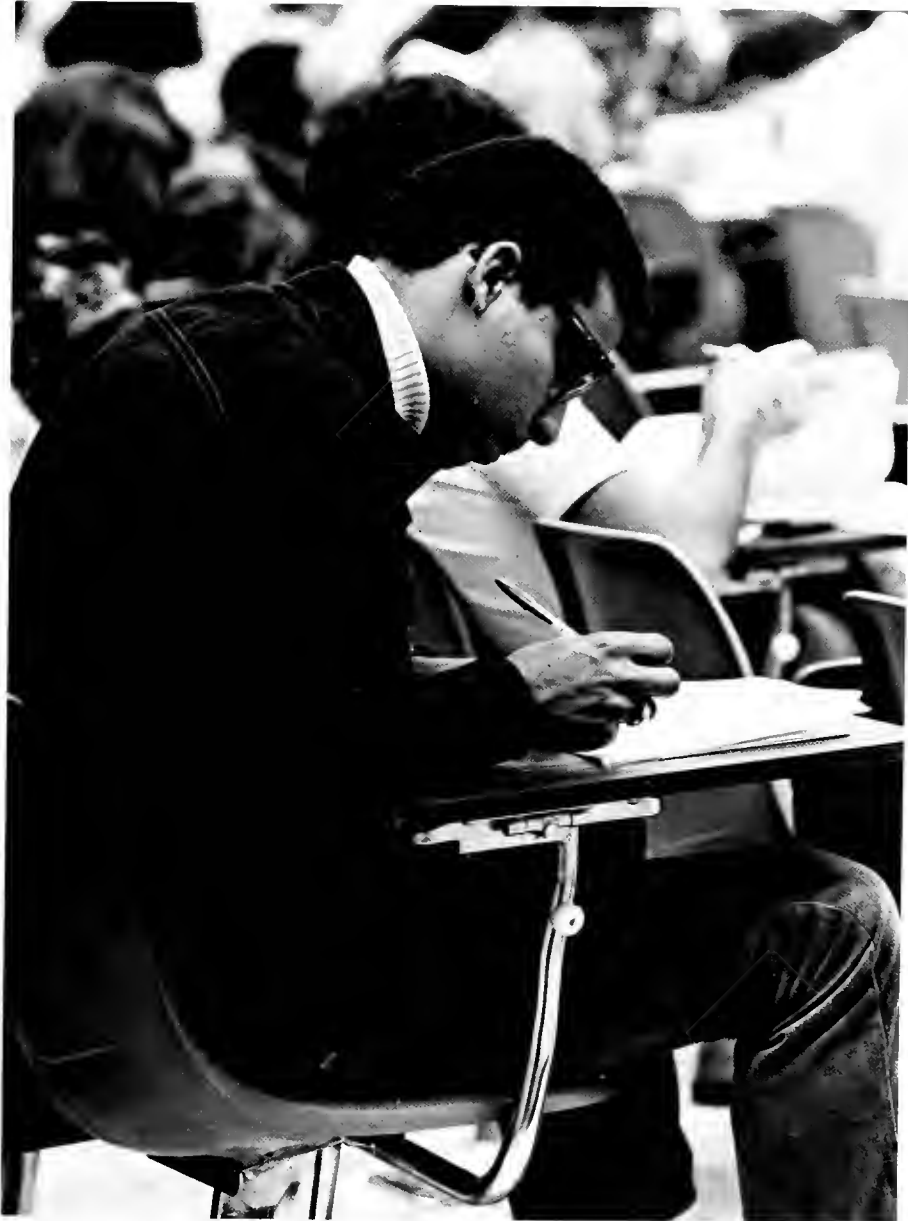

Sophomore: "I think a majority of exams are probably necessary, but there are some that are completely farcical and don't test what concepts you have learned in the course at all."

Freshman: "Exams are such a bad trip. You pull an all-nighter, hoping that what you're studying will be what the professor thinks is important and what he considers good enough to put on the exam."

Freshman: "You know, sometimes the conditions under which you take the exams are really far from the ideal. I took an exam in Cole (great place for taking an exam, right?) and they couldn't find out how to turn on the lights for the first ten minutes, at least. That's a little thing, but it doesn't help."

Senior: "I think exams are the most terrible conglomeration of unimportant information. I think they're completely irrelevant and unimportant. They deal with specific facts that have nothing whatsoever to do with the important concepts taught in the courses. Exam classrooms are noisy and there is a lot of cheating."

Joey

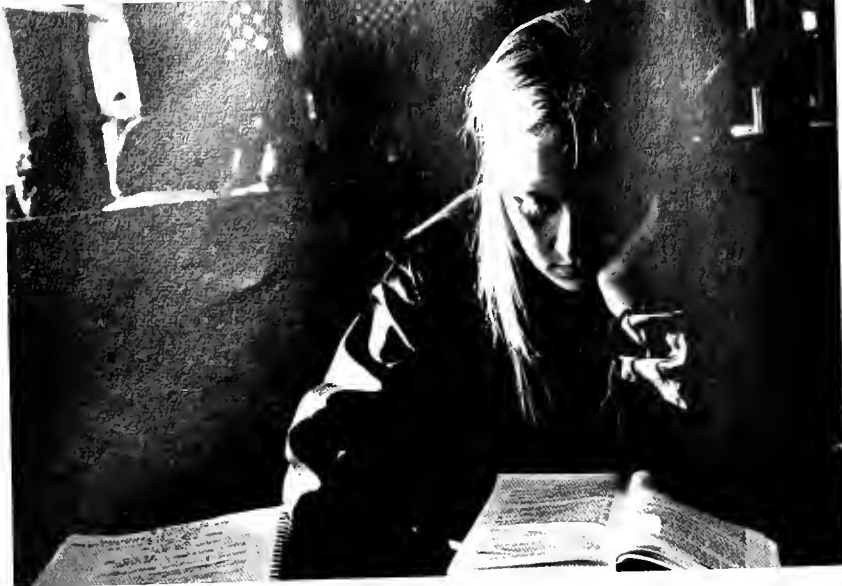

Jela

Heather

And

McKeldin Library:

Freshman: "It's an excellent place to study. And they have excellent security measures. Most of the guards are pleasant. I've only encountered one that was rude — it must have been his off day. The facilities are excellent, but it's faster to walk up the stairs than to use the elevator."

What do you think of Macke?

Junior: "I'm glad you asked me that. I was always getting swindled by the machines. I would put my dime in and it wouldn't give me anything. The rooms that they have the machines in are warm, so this means when you get your candy bar out of the machine, it drips all over your hands."

Faculty: "Macke food is convenient when pressed for time. Unfortunately, the food is not as good as the prepared foods you can find in a cafeteria or a restaurant."

Fifth year Senior: "I once offered my dog a half of a Macke cookie and he buried it."

Freshman: "I'm allergic to most of the stuff in there, anyway. Occasionally I'll get a bun, against my better judgment. I usually wish I hadn't."

What do you think of the dining halls?

Sophomore: "I eat in dining hall #1 quite often. I don't like the food in general, but I basically have no other place to go. Dining hall #1 is nearest and cheapest and has more variety."

Junior: "I eat there all the time. The food is ok. The only other place to eat is the Student Union and it's a real sty. When the dining hall is crowded, it's not as crowded as the Student Union. Plus, they don't have that damned juke box, which I hate."

WE HAD COFFEE LIKE THIS ON BOARD THE S.S. TARBABY ONCE, BUT AT LEAST WE WERE ABLE TO HERD IT BELOW INTO THE BRIG
BEFORE IT COULD GET ANYBODY.....

Freshman: "Occasionally I do go over there with friends. It's kind of far. I usually bring my own sandwich and adorn it with whatever they have. It's less expensive. They do have a good sandwich bar there — that's mainly why people go there. Other than that their food is the same stock of food as all over campus."

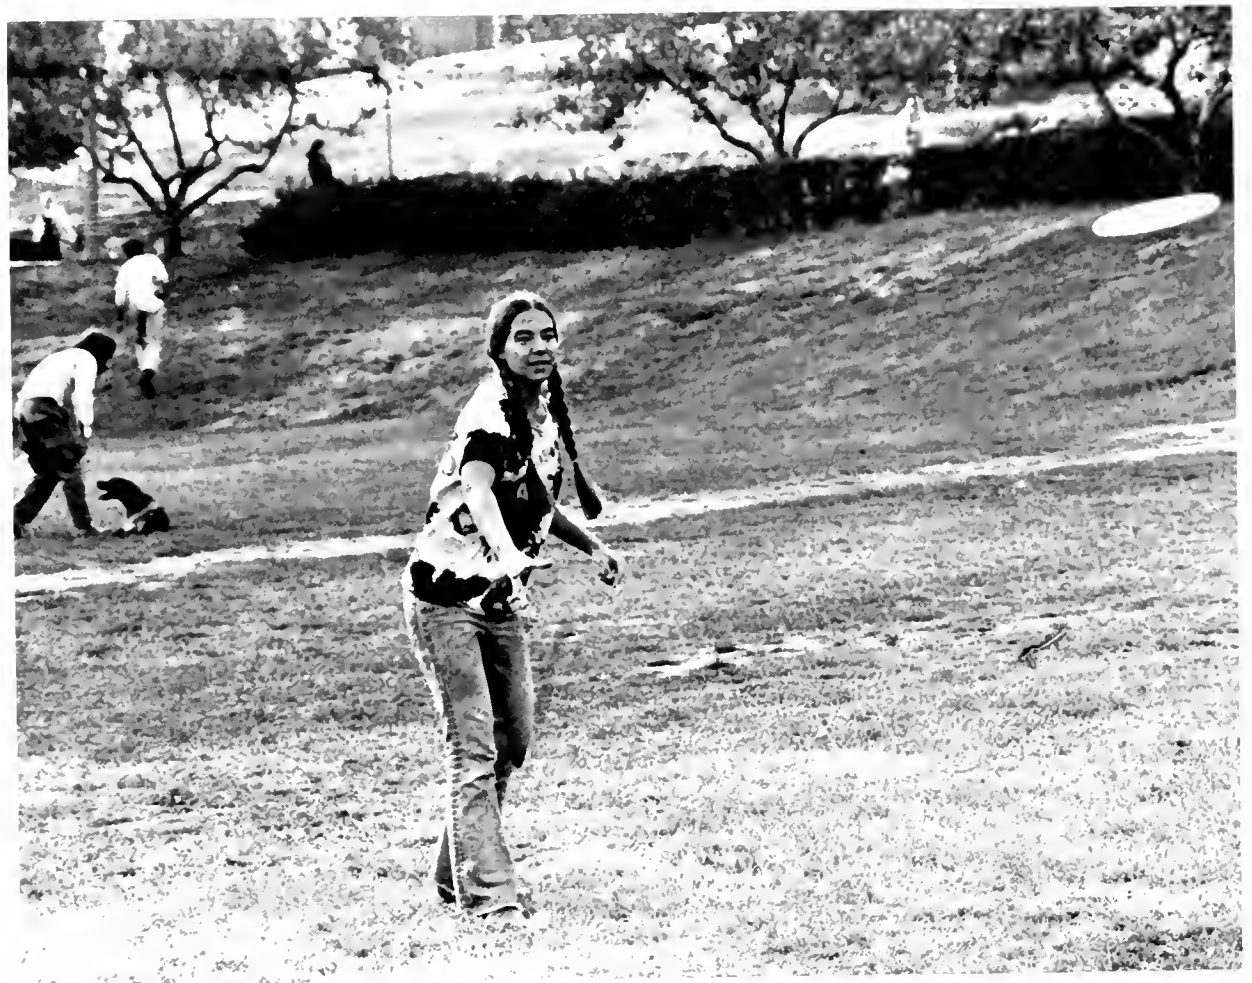

Sophomore: "Last spring I got hit in the face with a frisbee and broke two teeth."

Evangelism:

Sophomore: "You can't live in a dorm without being accosted twice a week by a Jesus freak. If your door is open, they just walk right in."

Sophomore: "I know a girl who did it until they asked her to shave all her hair off. Then she quit."

Senior: "Oh, they all look alike to me."

What do you think of the Maryland Medieval Mercenary Militia?

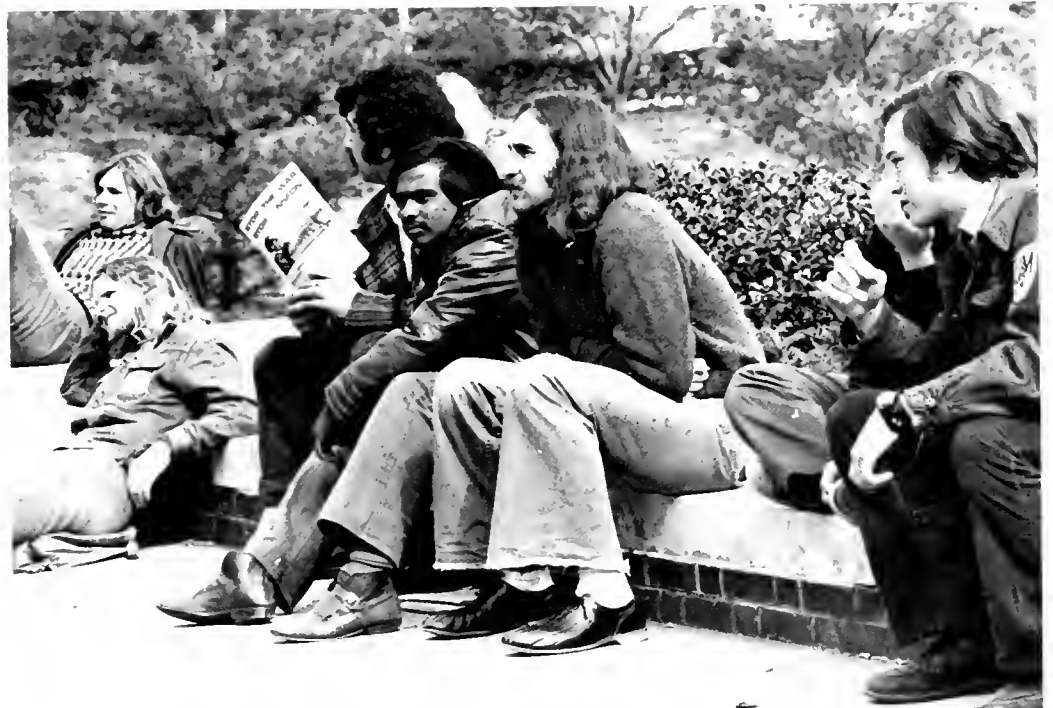

Freshman: "What's that?"

Senior: "They're crazy. I had a roommate once who took a class in mail-making. You know, those chain vests they wear."

Junior: "I think the University should replace that statue of a dumb turtle in front of the library with a symbol more fitting the high calibre of this University, like a bronze statue of a jackal wretching."

How do you compare student activism here with other schools?

Chancellor: "Students are more active here . . . I think it's good that they are concerned."

Senior: "There's definitely more apathy towards political consciousness today than three years ago. That's a fact, definitely. The only reason I said that was because when I interviewed people before the elections almost everybody was for McGovern, but no one had any facts or reasons to substantiate their opinions."

ELECTION LAW

DURING ELECTION
NO ELECTIONEERING WITHIN 100
FEET OF POLLING ROOM

NO PERSON IS PERMITTED TO CANVASS OR ELECTIONEER IN THE POLLING ROOM OR WITHIN A RADIUS OF 100 FEET FROM THE ENTRANCE OR EXIT OF THE BUILDING CLOSEST TO THE POLLING PLACES, NOR CAN ANYONE HOLD ANY TICKETS OR FACSIMILE OF TICKETS OR PAPERS PURPORTING TO BE TICKETS, EITHER WITHIN THE POLLING ROOM OR WITHIN 100 FEET THEREOF (SEC. 24-23 (2) (4)) ANY PERSON SO OFFENDING SHALL BE FINED NOT LESS THAN $50 OR MORE THAN $500, OR IMPRISONED IN JAIL NOT EXCEEDING SIXTY DAYS, OR BOTH. (SEC. 24-23 (B)) IT WILL BE THE DUTY OF THE SUPERVISORS OF ELECTIONS TO AID IN ALL PROSECUTIONS UNDER THIS ARTICLE. (SEC. 24-30)

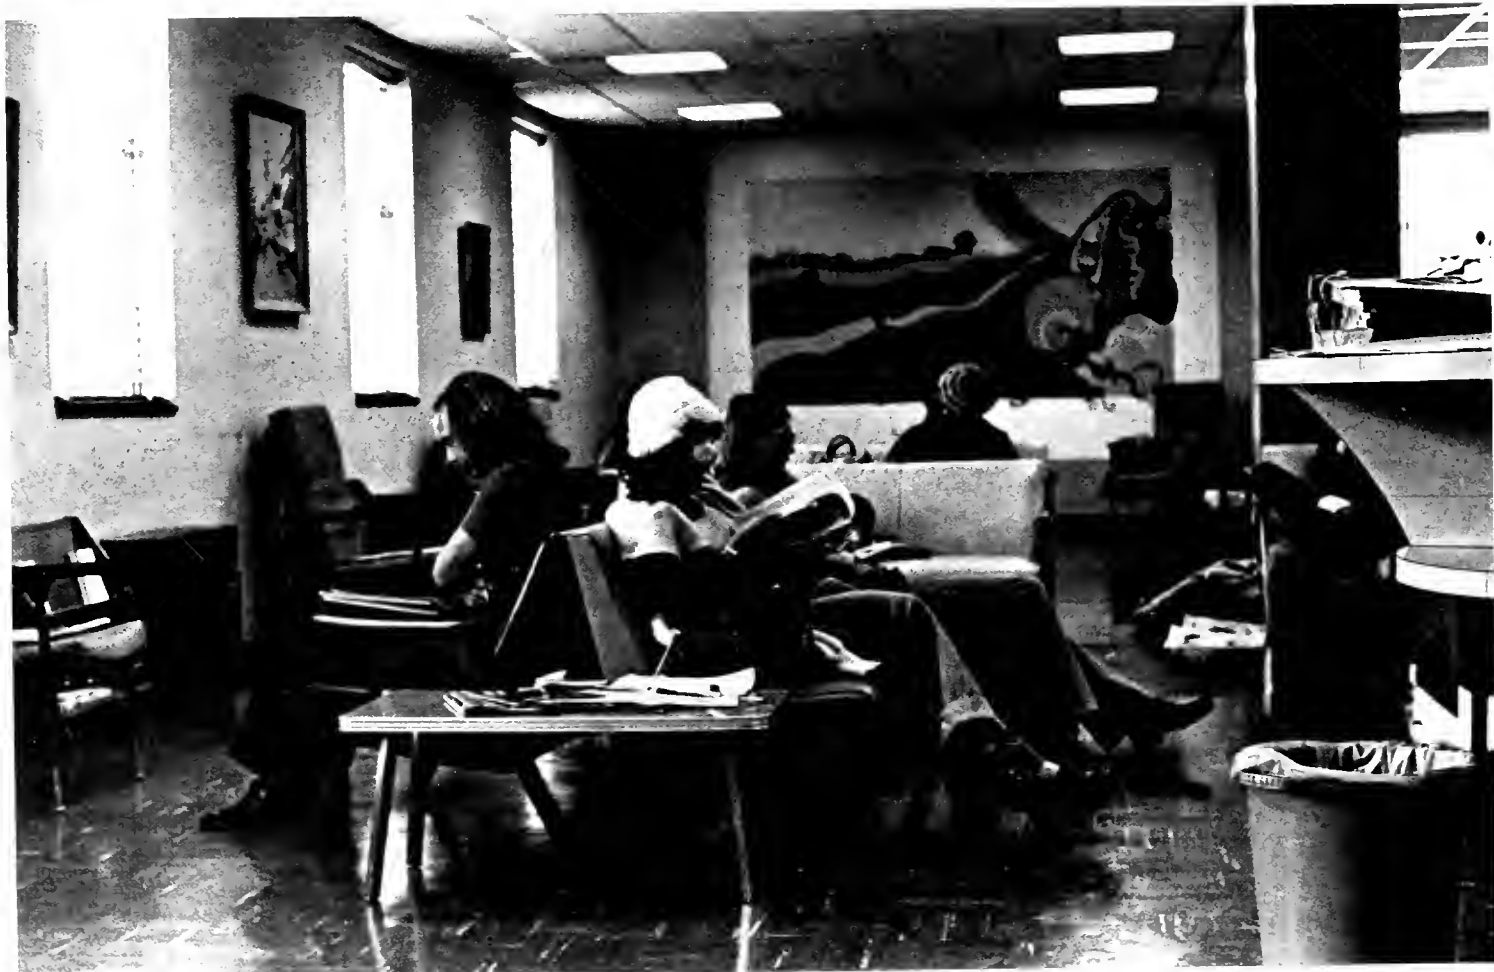

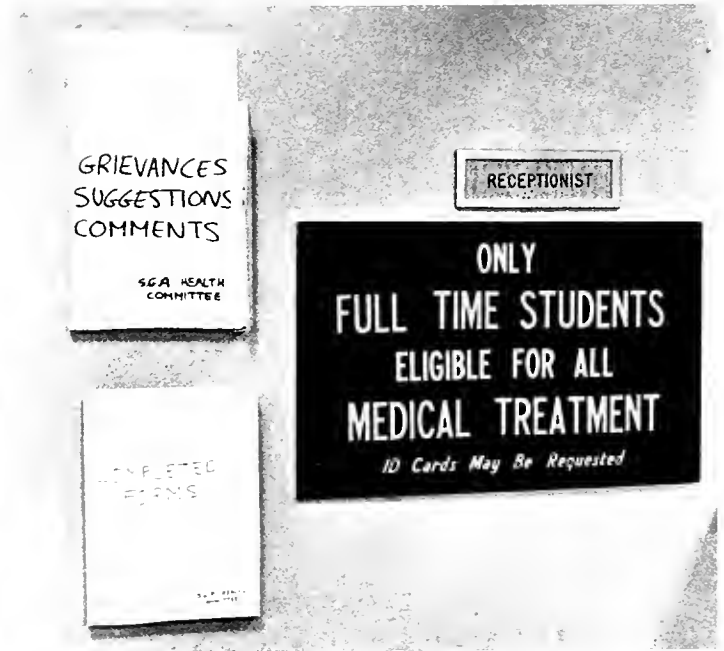

Senior: "I think that everybody should get out and listen to what is being said, and at least be open minded towards what is happening, rather than just taking an attitude very far one way or very far the other way. Even three years ago, living over in the complexes, the apathy was rampant because they weren't hassled with tear gas and police right out front their doors."

Sophomore: "The turnout for the two major demonstrations this year (the march on Nixon's headquarters and the Louisiana State rally) was really ludicrous. Shana Alexander in Newsweek was really right on target when she said that America was sleeping. America is sleeping and the University has been hibernating for quite a long time now."

Graduate Student: "I think the demonstrations have failed to attract much support or interest because I don't think the campus (well, not just the campus, it's the whole country) has the energy. We're just numb. Like the constant drips of water wearing down the grand canyon."

The Infirmary?

Sophomore: "They're not the greatest service in the whole world, but it's kinda reassuring to know they're there, just in case something bad happens. But if something bad did happen, you'd probably die sitting in the waiting room. The waiting . . . it's awful, it's ridiculous, but inevitable, I guess."

Junior: "The infirmary has a lack of medical doctors; they need to hire more. They're also far behind the times; they waited until this year to extend the visiting hours."

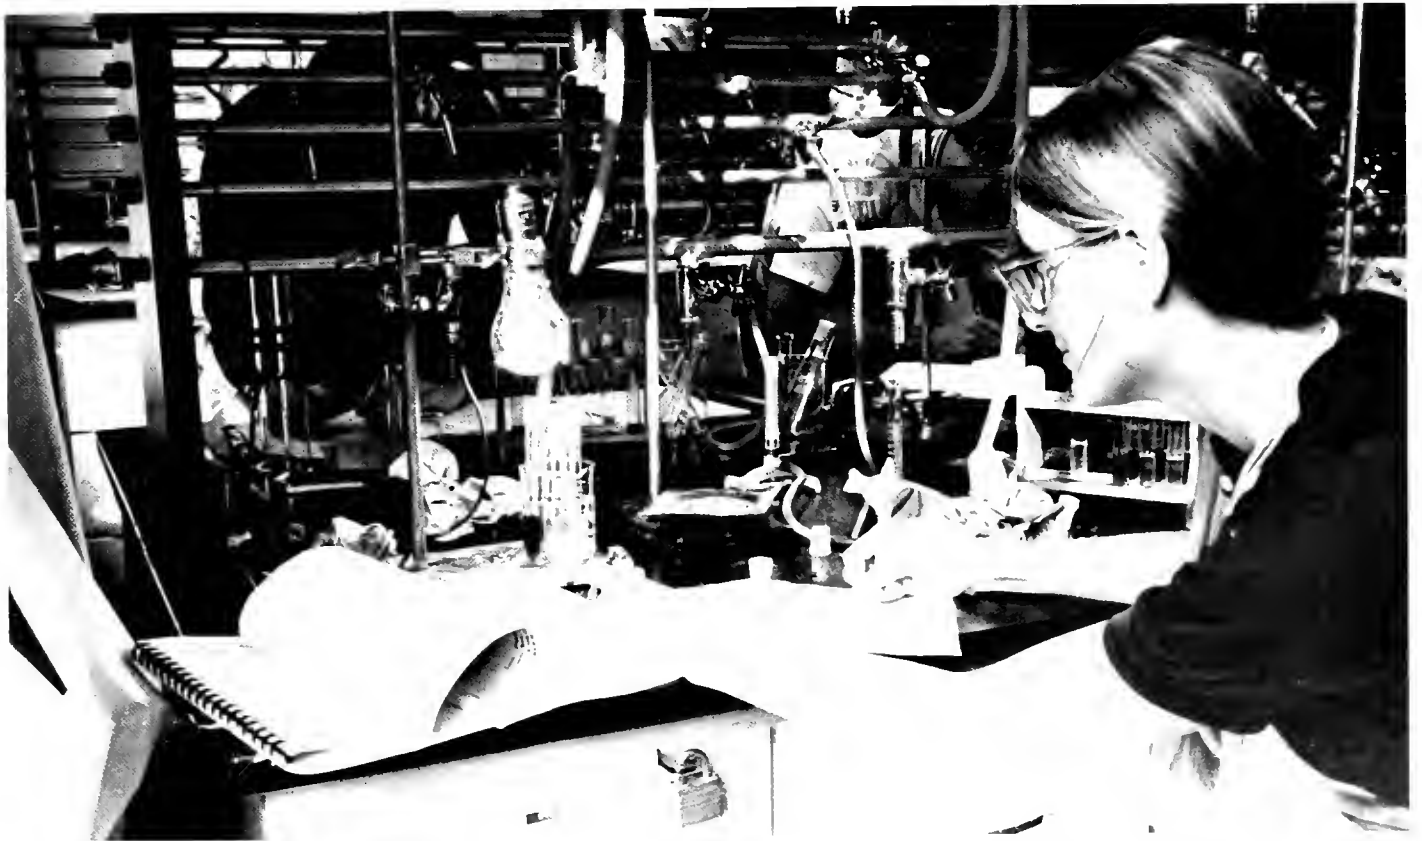

Nurse: "We're trying to be all things to all people and it's humanly impossible. But we keep on, we keep on."

What do you think of the laboratory courses?

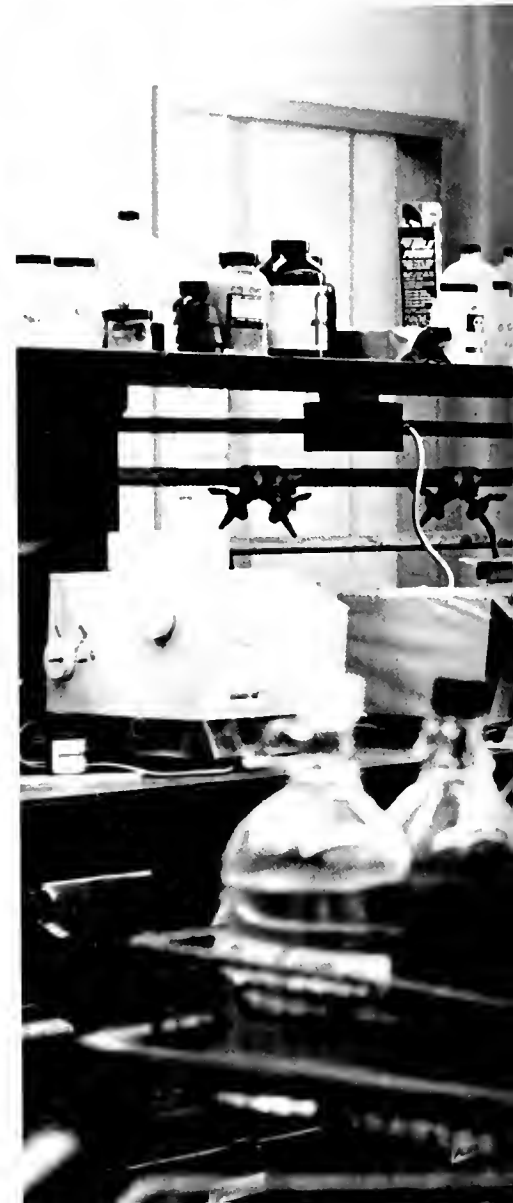

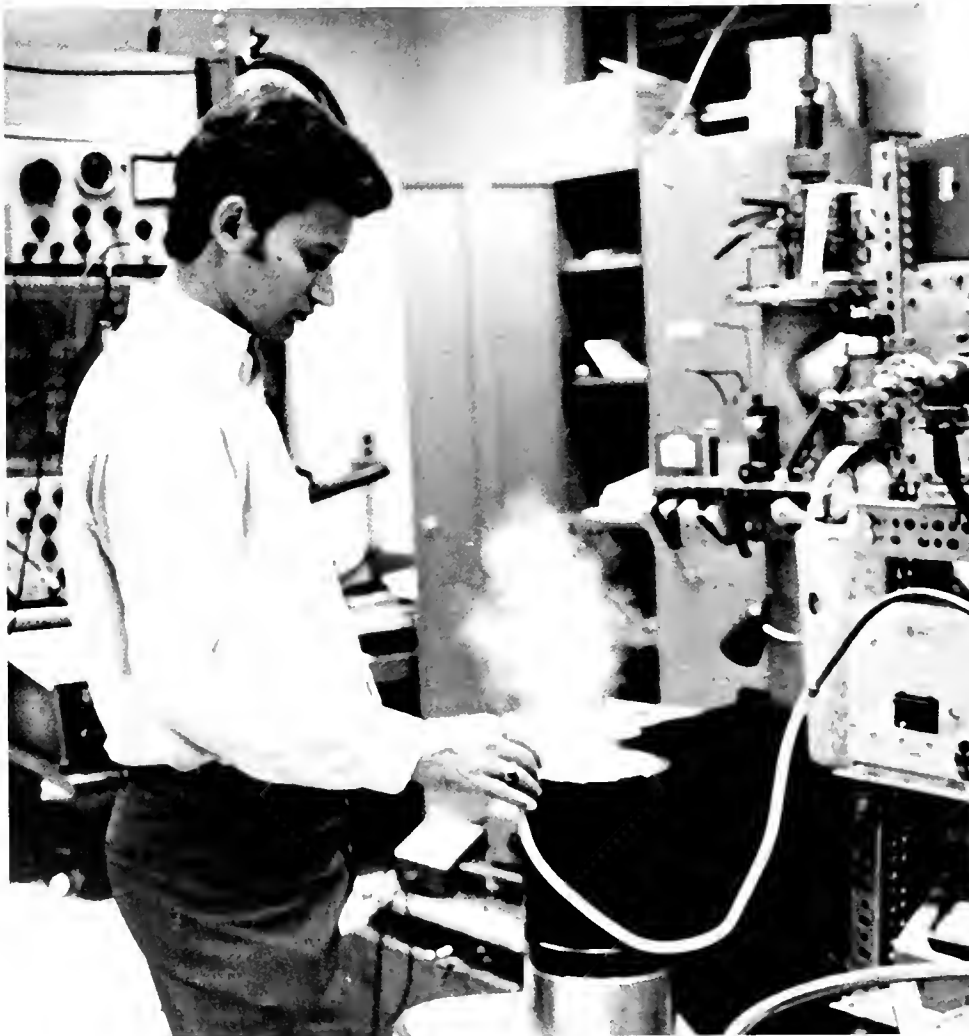

Junior: "The botany field trip to the golf course is stupid because all you do is get hit in the head with a golf ball."

Senior: "I took a Botany lab and I'm allergic to pollen, so I had to take allergy pills before we did the lab on pollen."

Freshman: "I find it kind of piecemeal and not really intensive enough to be beneficial. My past teacher was lacking in enthusiasm. He regarded it as a chore, so everyone looked forward to a chore everyday."

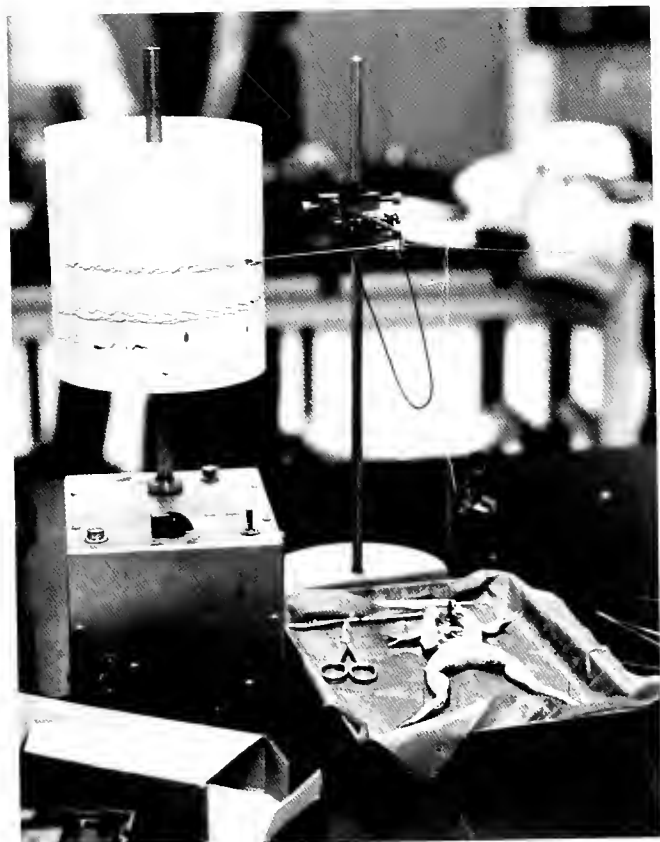

Sophomore: "I'm very sensitive towards frogs. I hate to kill them. You bend their heads over and stick a pin in their brains and stir it around. It's a waste of good frogs."

What about the barn?

Junior: "I've never been to the barn, but I've been to the Grill twice."

Junior: "I used to live in Denton hall and I had to walk to my math class past the chicken coops and those chickens smelled. I don't like chickens."

Freshman: "They're terrible – Yeech. It really is grotesque. In the summer they have a kind of bog where the cows wallow in shit. The pond is undrained and the bacteria multiply like mad – the stench downwind is too much."

What do you do to relax?

Freshman: "In nicer weather I simply fall asleep by the nearest bush. In cold weather it's hard to find a place to relax. The buildings don't have any lounges."

Freshman: "There really isn't a lot around here for real relaxation; I mean that in the sense of structural things to do."

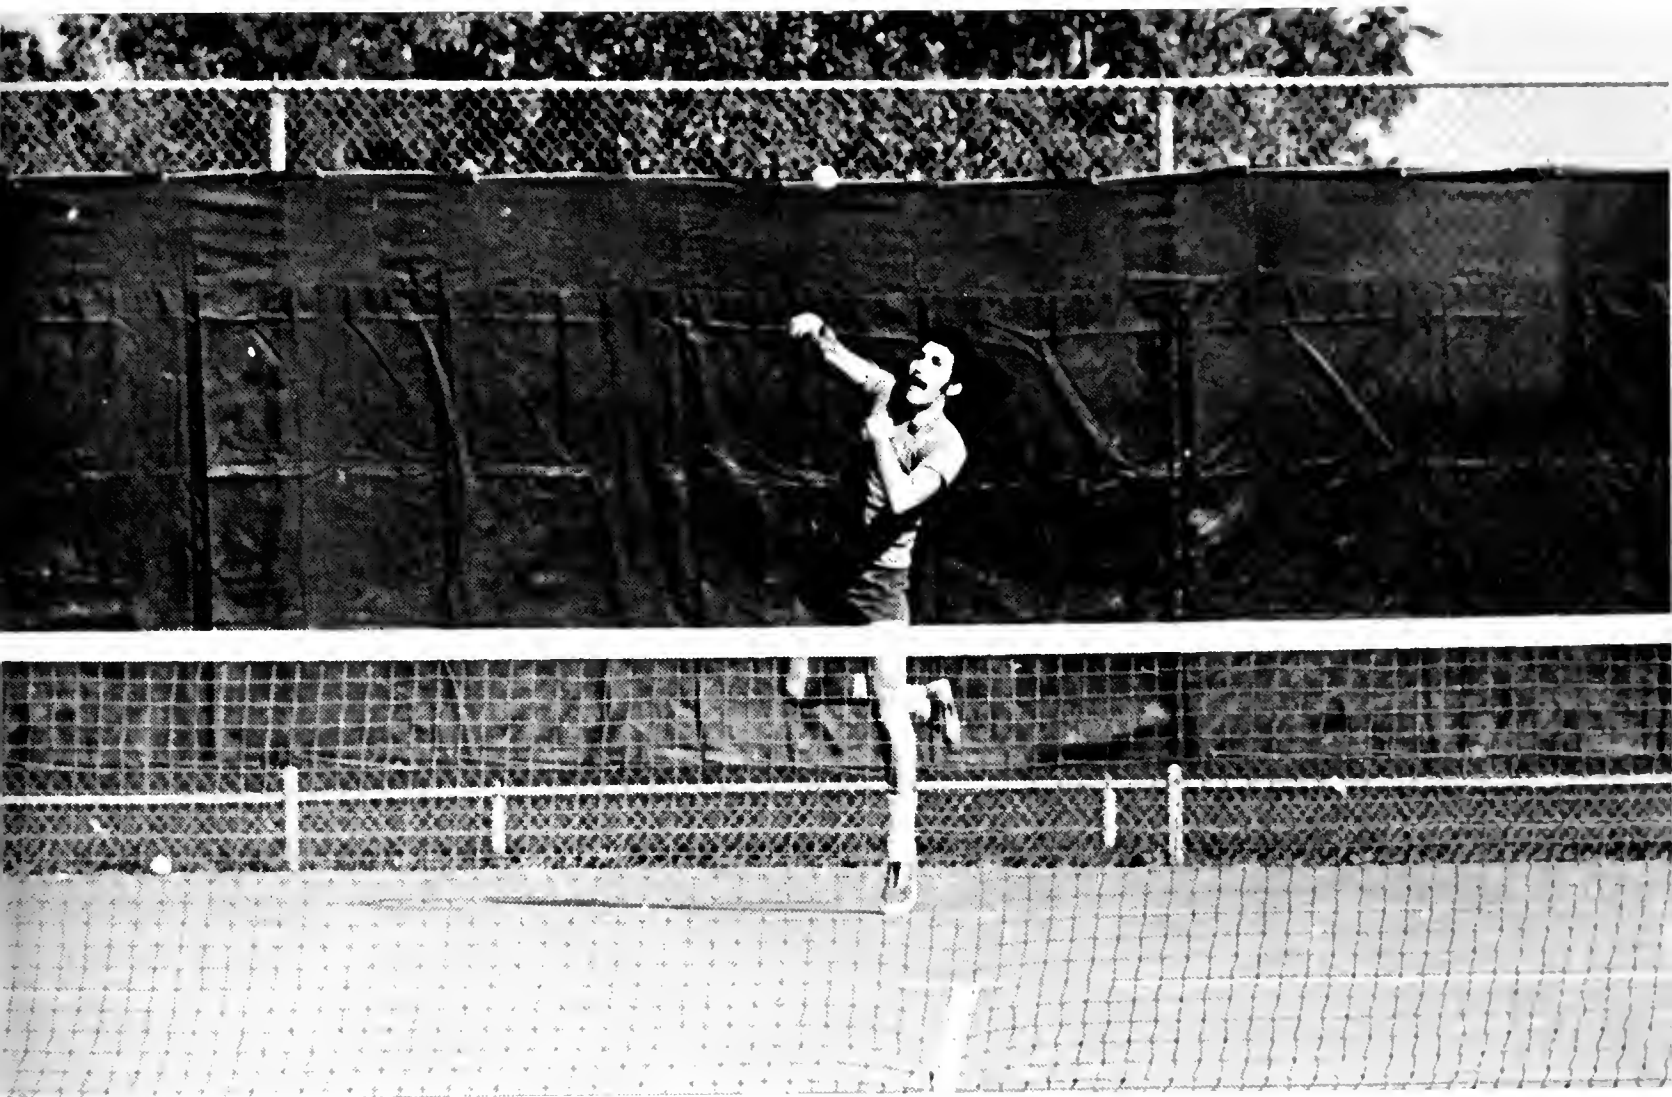

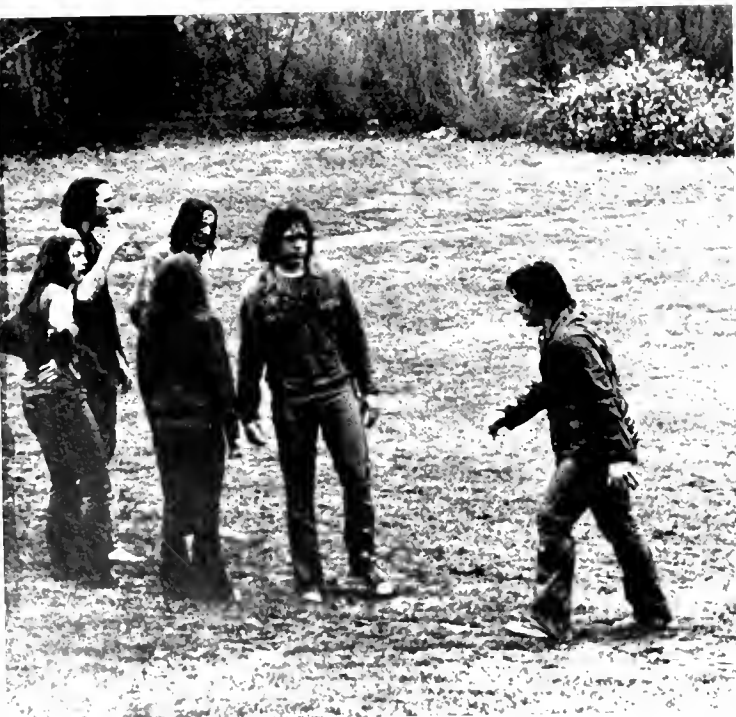

Freshman: "I thought that the university was such a large place that I would meet lots of people and make lots of friends; but actually it's a very lonely place. I've met very few people. Everyone needs a few close friends who they can really open up to and be themselves around."

Junior: "Dating is old fashioned. Now people don't date – they build relationships. Just like now people don't converse, they have a dialogue. It's all a matter of a changing culture."

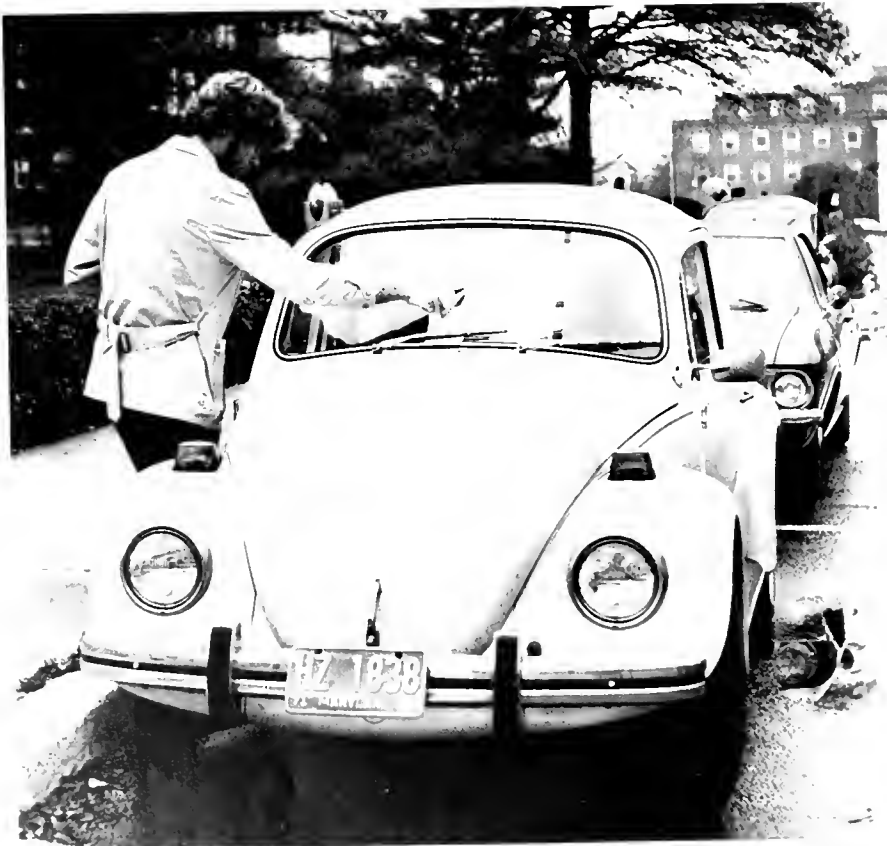

Senior: "In the last few years the campus resembled a mud hole, but I guess that is to be expected with all of the construction."

Junior: "There's nothing as refreshing as walking to class in ankle deep mud – yuck!"

Freshman: "When it rains they ought to call this place College Falls and open it up as a honeymoon resort. It beats Niagara Falls anyday."

Senior: "Why fight it? Mud is a part of nature so why not get into it and enjoy it . . . sort of getting back to nature."

Senior: "I figure it cost more for me to park at the University in the last four years than to pay for tuition, room, board and fees."

Senior: "I've paid enough in parking tickets to build my own garage."

Junior: "The university should spend less money paying students to patrol parking lots and more money building them."

Senior: "The only way that you know there are cops on campus is if you park illegally or start a riot."

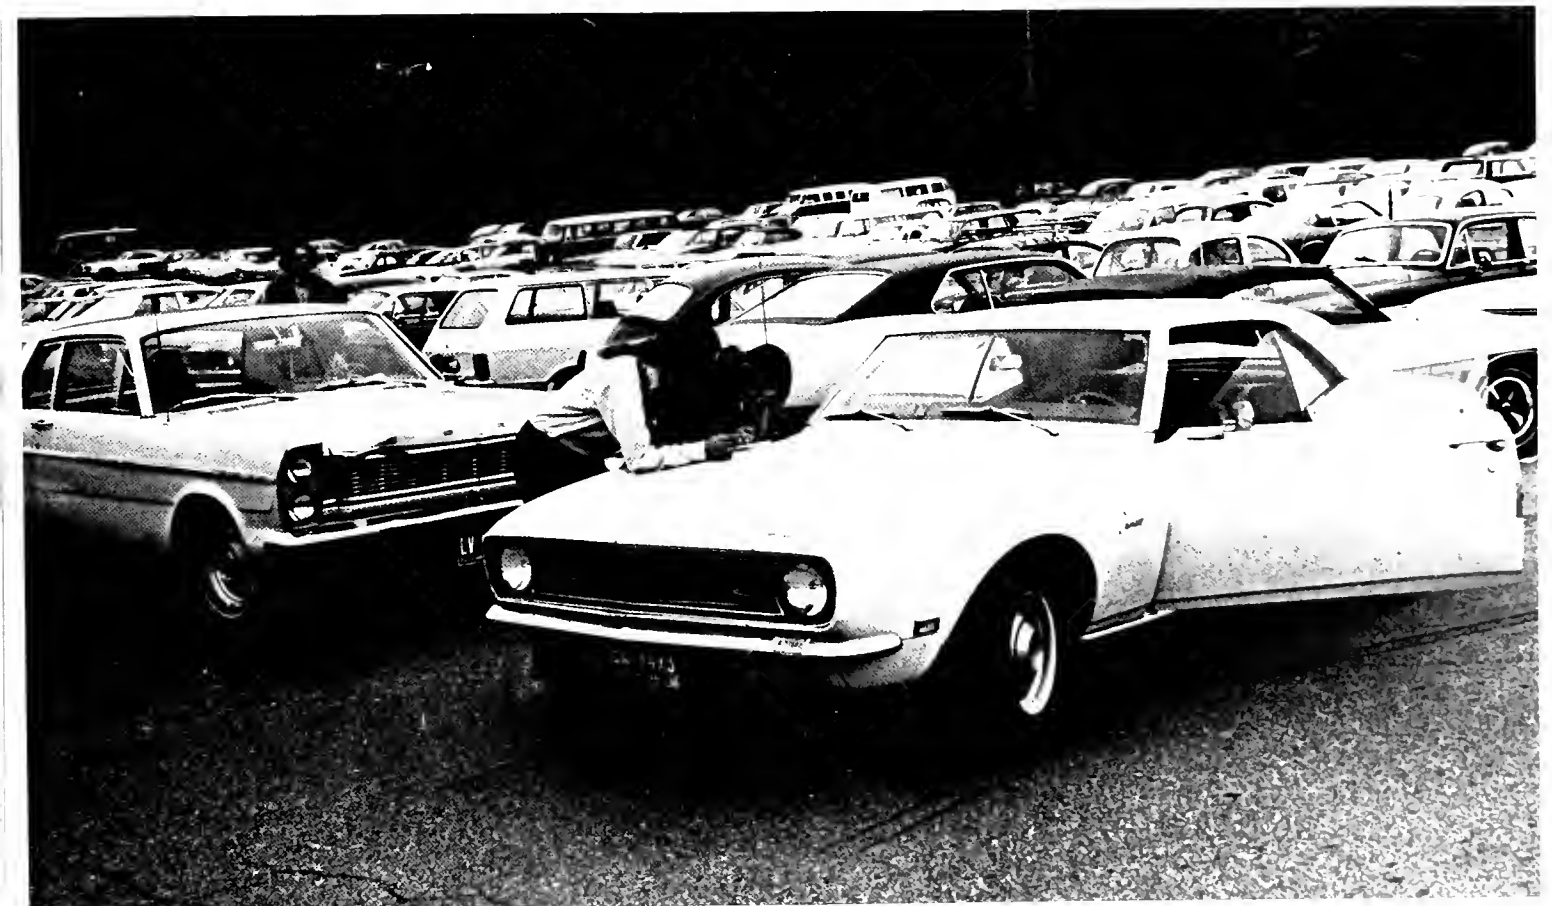

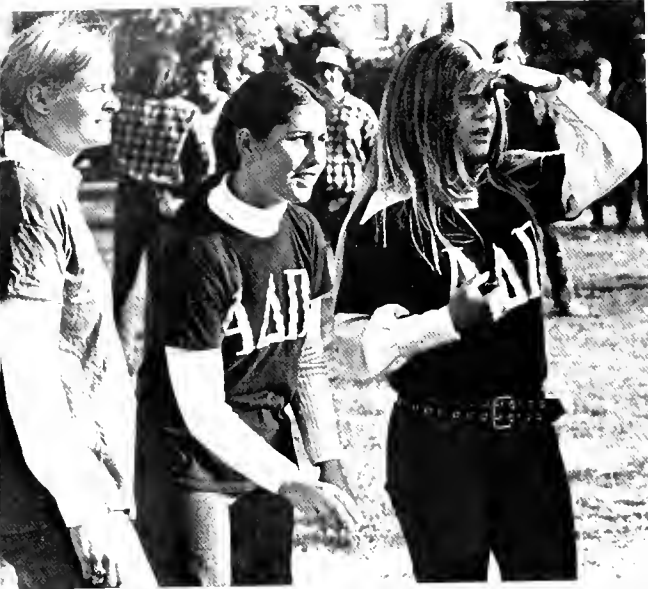

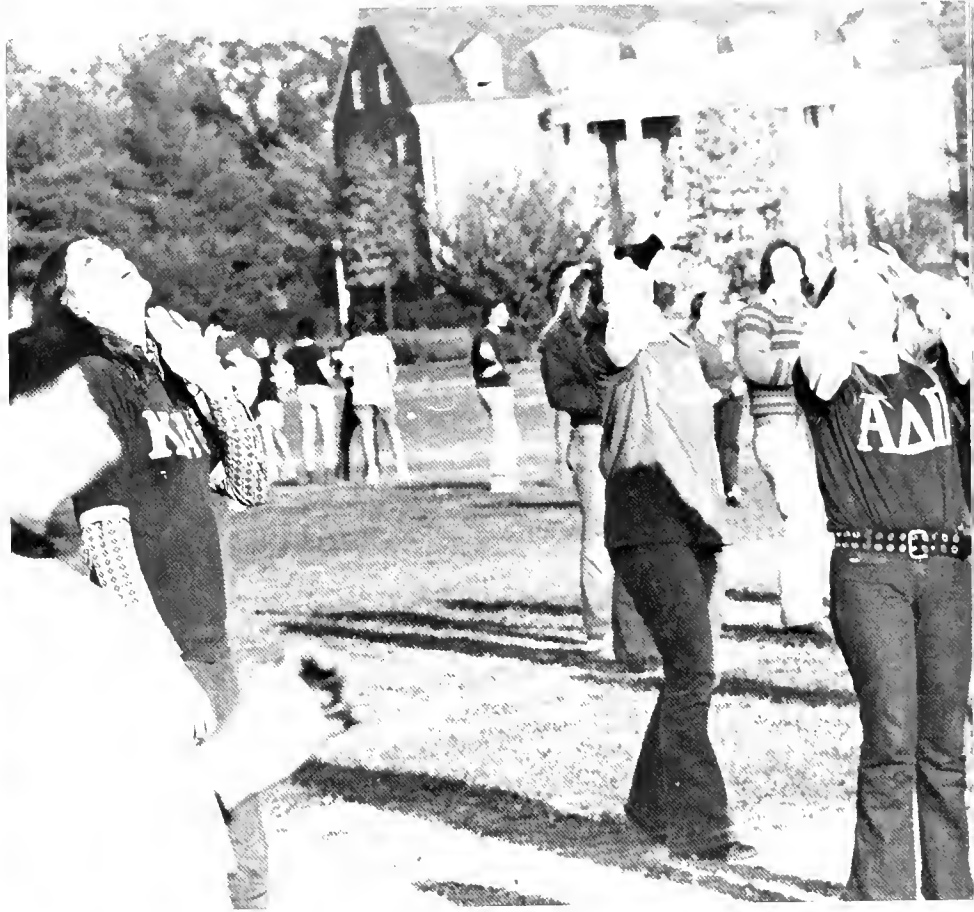

Senior: "Somebody once stole my headlights right out of the car while I was in class."

Junior: "Campus cops are no help. Once I was stranded on parking lot 1 and couldn't get into my car. A campus cop stopped but said he couldn't get near the car or touch it."

Derby Day

Derby Day, held Oct. 28, 1972, was sponsored by Sigma Chi fraternity. It is held nationally by chapters of Sigma Chi to support Wallace Village, a home for nominally retarded children in Colorado. Ten sororities participated in a week long competition for points by selling raffle tickets and participating in the sorority Olympics in Ritchie Coliseum. The Olympics included such activities as beer chugging, inner-tube race, egg throwing contest, tri-cycle race and foul shooting. The event ended in a party at the Sigma Chi house. $1400 was collected during the week, $150 of which, after expenses, was donated to Wallace Village.

Freshman: "It's easier to grab a sandwich or snack or go out to eat than cook a meal for one person. Besides who has time to cook a decent meal – and it's almost impossible to get all your roommates together to eat at the same time."

Junior: "Eating in dorm rooms can be pleasant – soft music, candle light and good food – if you can cook a gourmet dinner on a hot plate."

Freshman: "There is inadequate parking around the dorms and the parking available is usually too far away for moving in or out. Students have to lug refrigerators, stereos, TVs, food, etc. for long distances and if they park in the firelanes while moving in, the campus police will ticket the cars and threaten to tow them away. In the complexes, if the elevators are broken on moving day, it's a disaster. Have you ever tried to lug a refrigerator, stereo, or TV up nine floors?"

Senior: "Frustration is being a very neat person and having a very sloppy roommate. Something has got to give. Usually we compromise and take turns cleaning up."

Junior: "Cleaning up the apartment can be a real pain, but I don't mind, because I just think of it as a study break."

Senior: "Once the moving is finished, decorating can be a real blast. Each room has its own personality that reflects the person living there. Roommates can be the greatest joy of college life or the greatest horror. The whole relationship depends on consideration, tolerance, learning to be an open person. The result can be life long friends or enemies, but whatever the result, it forces each individual to take a serious look at himself and how he appears to others."

Freshman. "All the parties at the beginning and end of semesters are really great to meet new people and have fun."

Senior. "Mixers in dorms have traditionally been flops, but parties and dances in the dining halls have attracted more people and been more successful in the last year."

Senior. "Night is the best time in the dorm because usually everyone is in. Groups of friends can get together and talk, listen to music or study. Everyone sort of opens up at night, takes it easy, lets loose."

Senior: In a university this size, it takes time, patience and perseverance to meet and make friends. At least it offers a great variety of people – a chance to experience many kinds of people before you decide on the very special someone you want to spend the rest of your life with.”

Senior: “The university offers a great place for dates. There are always several movies playing, lectures, plays, concerts of all types, and many other types of entertainment.”

Dance Marathon Collects $42,000 For Muscular Dystrophy

On November 10 through 12, Phi Sigma Delta fraternity sponsored the annual "Dance For Those Who Can't" Marathon, to raise money for muscular dystrophy. Fifty-two couples, sponsored by campus organizations, dorms, fraternities, sororities and outside groups who gathered money to support their dancers, danced through the week-end. Celebrities such as Pat Paulsen, several of the Washington Redskins, the cast of "Senior Prom" and staff members of WDON, a country and western radio station, performed.

The marathon received national newspaper and television coverage. Although most of the couples were from the university and local schools, some couples returned this year from as far away as South Dakota and North Carolina State. This year $42,000 was raised to help the fight against muscular dystrophy. Charles Sinclair of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, and Chris Coch of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, were the winning dance team. They each won a $3,000 scholarship for their sponsoring organization, and a trip to Acapulco.

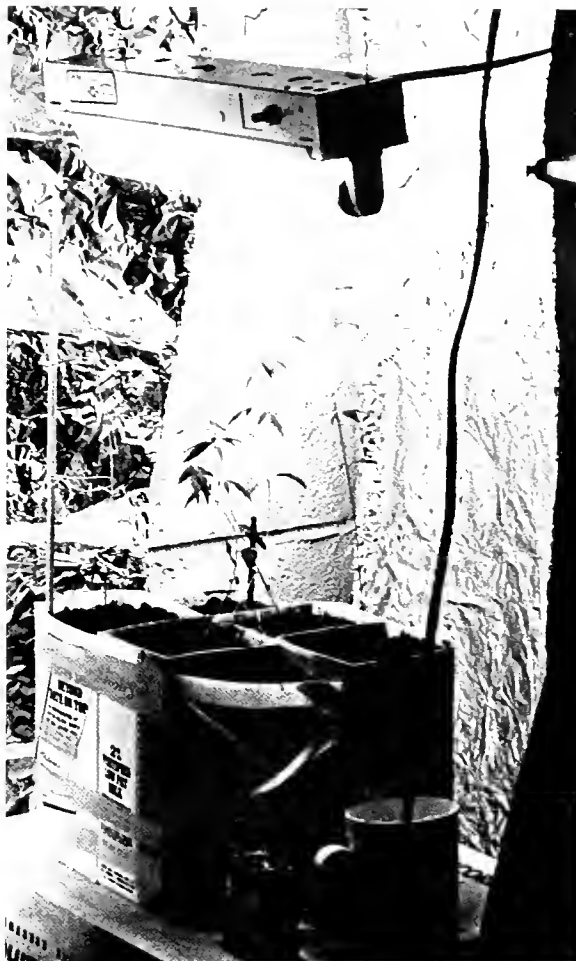

Senior: Parties have changed emphasis over the last four years on campus. Before, parties were larger, more drinking and louder. Although students still drink their quota, drugs, especially marijuana, are now more prevalent."

Senior: "The dorms aren't as friendly as they used to be. A few years ago everyone in the dorm knew one another and everyone got together for parties, raps or bull sessions. Now people stay to themselves more. Dorm life is dying."

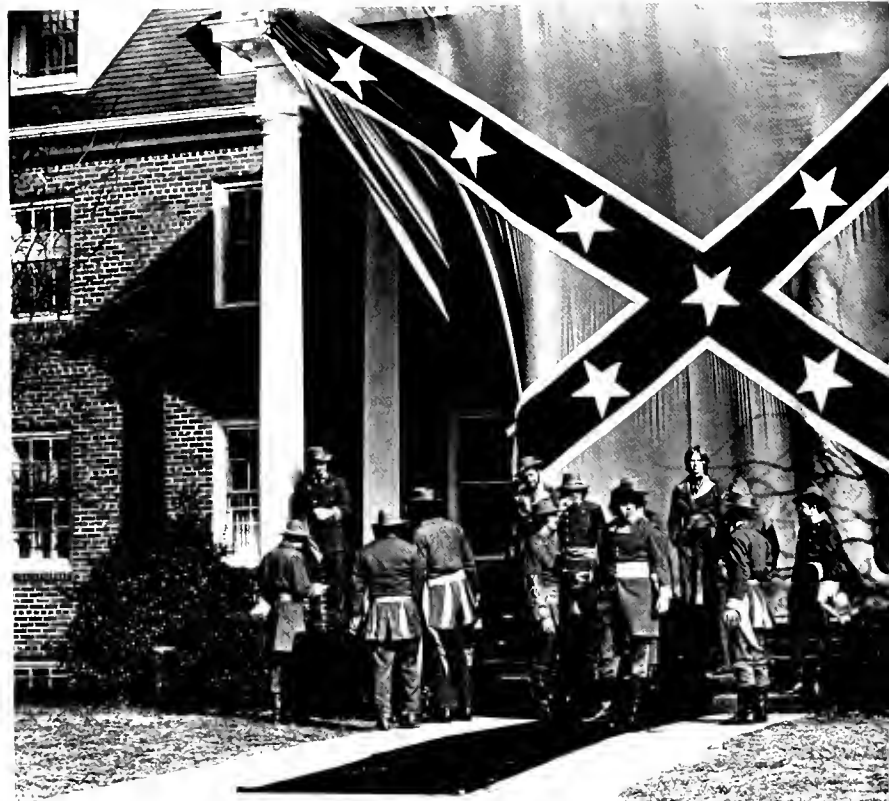

Freshman: Greek parties are still a good way to meet the opposite sex. It's an opportunity to get to know people in the house and people in other houses. A good way to loosen up after a week of classes and studying.

Senior: Frat parties are still popular for relaxing after a rough week. Theme parties aren't as popular as they once were, but there is still plenty of action on the row.

Freshman: Many students feel that greek life is on the way out at the university but that's not really true. There may be less greeks in number, but the quality of greek programs have improved. It is great to be able to have a feeling of belonging to a small group on such a large campus.

Senior: "Studying is one of those necessary evils of college life. There simply is no way to avoid it. I should know — I've been trying to for four years."

Freshman: "I really don't mind studying if it is quiet and I'm comfortable. The dorms are really too noisy, and most of the time I end up in the library."

Entertainment

Junior: "Hooray for the new Student Union Theatre — at last a real theatre instead of the ballroom."

Junior: "University Theatre has improved a lot in the last few years but there should be more productions, not just two or three shows a semester."

Sophomore: "Plays are a little too sensual — exploiting and losing values."

Junior: "It's gotten worse since I started. I'd like to see more of the large concerts. The plays are good — especially University Theatre."

Basketball Season Record

When Latty Driesell came here, he promised to make the Terrapins the "UCLA of the East." His promise has not yet been fully realized, but this season came close with 23 wins and 7 losses. The fans followed the team closely, with 18 games completely sold out.

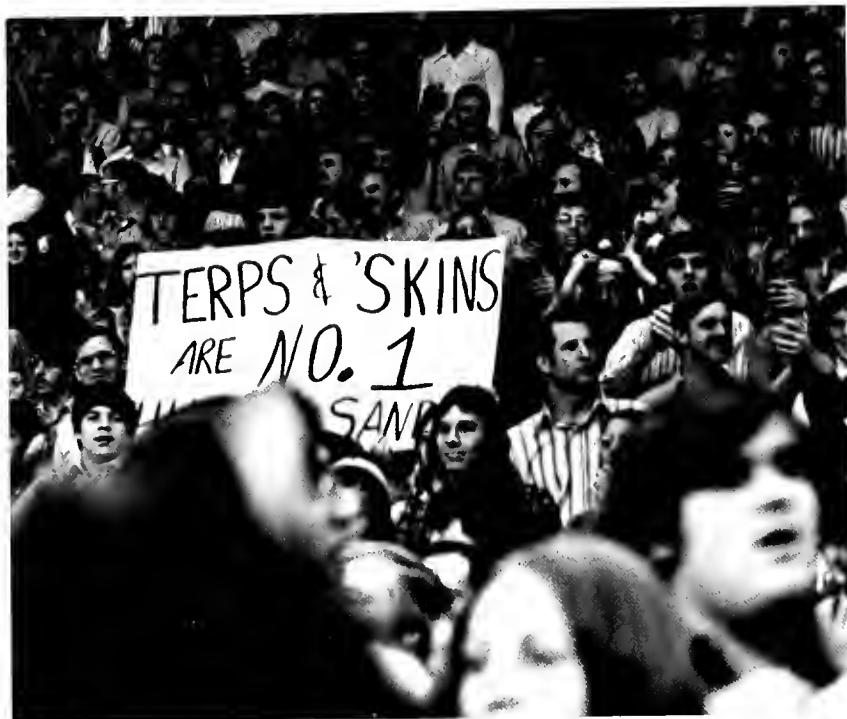

Of the individual players on the team, the top scorers were Tom McMillen, with 573 points, Jim O'Brien, with 468, and John Lucas, with 384. Two players, O'Brien and McMillen, have scored over 1,000 points in their career.

Football

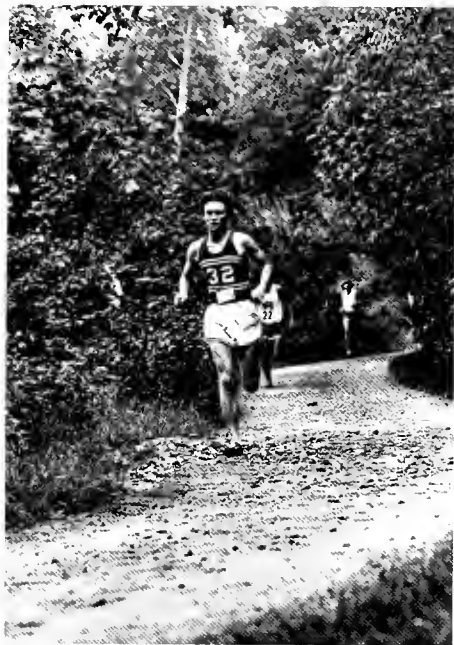

The football season ended with a break-even record of 5-5-1. This is a definite improvement over the past seven consecutive losing seasons. When Jerry Clairborne assumed the duties of head football coach, the team had finished last in defense in the Atlantic Coast Conference. This year, the Terrapins led the conference in defense, despite the fact that there were only two seniors in the starting lineup.

Cross Country

The Cross-Country team finished the season with a 10-1 record. They came in first in the Atlantic Coast Conference Championships, held in Clemson, South Carolina, with Kenny Umbarger setting a new record of 26:07.4 in the 5 $\frac{1}{8}$ mile race. The team also placed 6th out of 17 teams in the National Collegiate Athletic Association District 3 Championships, held in Knoxville, Tennessee; and 17th out of 34 teams in the NCAA Championships held in Houston, Texas.

Wrestling

The wrestling team, under Coach William E. "Sully" Krouse, captured first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference this year. This is their twentieth consecutive ACC title. The two participants named Outstanding Wrestlers most frequently during the year were Dave Strauss, at 150 pounds, and Rich Ragan, at 190 pounds.

Baseball

The baseball team this year (Spring '72) had an 18-10 season, with Bob Grossman pitching two no-hitters, and Richard Fillings pitching one. Grossman made the first team, All Conference, and was named baseball "Athlete of the Year" in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Two other players, Mike Baier and Vince Bateman, made second team, All Conference. The leading hitter of the A.C.C. was Skip Smith, with an average of .70.

According to Coach Jackson, the team last year did a very outstanding job. "We could have won the conference as well as anyone else. We expect to have a successful year this year."

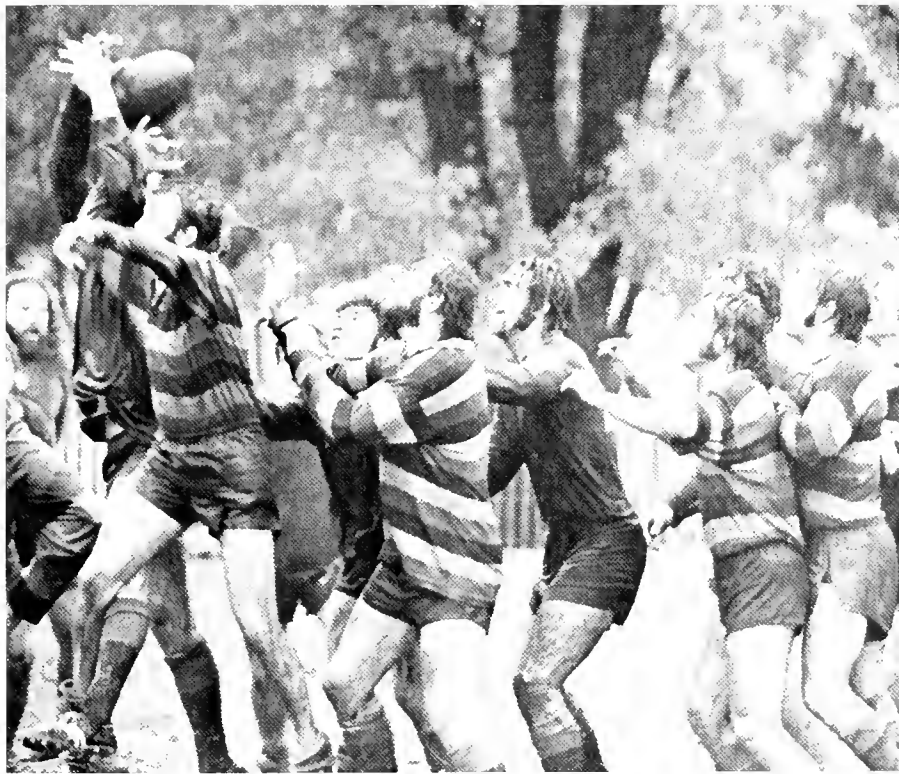

Soccer

The soccer team this year ended the season with a 4-4-2 record. Two players made the Atlantic Coast Conference All American Team: Mike Wilson, voted all american wing, and George Tarasites. Tarasites made the ACC for the second time, with honors in the two positions of lineman and goalie.

This is the culmination of years of pleading, hoping and dreaming which will become a reality for the station next year. The new studios were designed by staff members of the station — Gred Bitting, Alan Dunn and Rich Friedell, and when completed will provide the university with one of the finest radio facilities anywhere in the area."

Jay Kermis: "This is the first year WMUC has used what is called a 'sweep' format. That is to say, a format in which the music starts out light in the morning and as the day progresses, the music becomes heavier. We feel this has been very successful, judging by listener response."

Maryland Media, Incorporated

As the 1960's crumbled to a halt, the University administration and Board of Regents faced the horns of a considerable dilemma: student publications (most notably and constantly, Argus magazine) were becoming increasingly obstreperous in their subject matter and editorial attitude. Printing contracts were being cancelled and/or left unhonored, due to what one merry inkster termed "obscene and unpatriotic" content. Libel/slander/obscenity suits loomed.

What can a poor bureaucrat do, except to assign a commission to study the problem?

So they did.

Dr. Charles Schultze, economics lecturer and fairhaired boy of the student body since his charring of the strike meetings in Spring, 1970, was appointed to head a study group which would consider the twofold responsibility, editorial and fiscal, of student publications.

The Schultze Commission, after due deliberation, produced a lengthy opinion, the gist of which urged that the University form an independent publications corporation, whose existence would effect a de iuris, if not de facto, separation of student publications from the University, in the event of a lawsuit or like court action. The day-to-day role of the corporation would be to develop self-supporting student publications by consolidating assets, increasing advertising, and gradually weaning the newspaper, magazines, and year-book away from Mother SGA.

After nearly two years, that aim seems well on its way toward accomplishment.

Maryland Media, Inc., has survived so far, and survived quite nicely. The shock of SGA's initial, and much-belated fund allocation has come and gone, and genuine progress has been made toward that primary goal of solvent self-support.

Publications that currently belong to MMI include:

The Diamondback, the campus daily, which has consistently won national acclaim for its quality.

The Black Explosion, a biweekly newspaper of, for, and by, the campus Black community.

Argus/dimension magazine, a hybrid animal composed of equal parts Argus, the old glossy monthly, and dimension, the DBK's weekly feature supplement.

Calvert, the campus literary magazine, which has traditionally appeared irregularly.

And, of course, the Terrapin, which you now hold in your hot little hands.

Also included in the MMI stable but not currently operative is the Course Guide, whose resurgence is even now being plotted.

Without getting lost in corporate bylaws and legal infra-structure, the Board of Directors is comprised of:

William Edgeworth, chairman of the Board and President of the Corporation.

Dr. Richard Lee, vice-president and treasurer of the corporation. Dr. Lee is an associate professor in the Journalism department.

Michael J. Dolan, secretary of the board. Mike is editor-in-chief of Argus/dimension magazine.

Chad Neighbor, editor-in-chief of the Diamondback.

I. William Hill, associate editor of the Washington Star-News.

Kenneth Harter, associate editor of the Washington Post.

W. Daniel Webster, editor of the Terrapin.

Sarah McFadden, vice-president of the Student Government Association.

Dr. Saul Sosnowsky, associate professor in the Language Department.

Allan Jackson, publisher of the Annapolis Evening Capitol.

Michael Fribush, business manager of the corporation.

The board meets on a more-or-less monthly basis to deal with corporation business, and to discuss problems and future plans.

So, there you have it: Maryland Media, Incorporated. A struggling young business enterprise, safe from the slings and arrows of the commercial world by virtue of its location in the groves of academie.

. . . So here we are – students, teachers, scholars – Distinguished (except for myself) for our grades and intelligence,
And wed to the many grave virtues of the past
Such as honor, tolerance, manners, and breadth of vision,
That our institutional fund raisers make much of
With our books piled to the ceilings, and our pins and keys
And funny old pipes and accents queer, We're of use it seems, to the cloisters to which we adhere Like ivy sere,
Of use as props or in bit parts in the staging
Of that clumsy archaic play called "Arts and Humanities" . . .

Chancellor Bishop:

"The most frustrating aspect of this university is that it is so large one can't know enough about it."

"I am very proud of the campus reorganization, and the modules. Students are better satisfied in the modules than anywhere else on campus."

Senior: "It takes someone who has been at this campus a few years to appreciate Chancellor Charles Bishop. Before Bishop, the administration seemed totally removed from student contact and student opinion. Bishop is probably one of the best things that has happened to this campus in years. He has at least opened up the lines of communication between students and administration needed to run this campus effectively."

Sophomore. "Does the administration really exist? Life on campus is like predestination – you really can't affect anything."

Freshman: "Total disorganization. They haven't got it together at North Administration. Nobody knows what's going on, and they act like you're inconveniencing them if you ask a question."

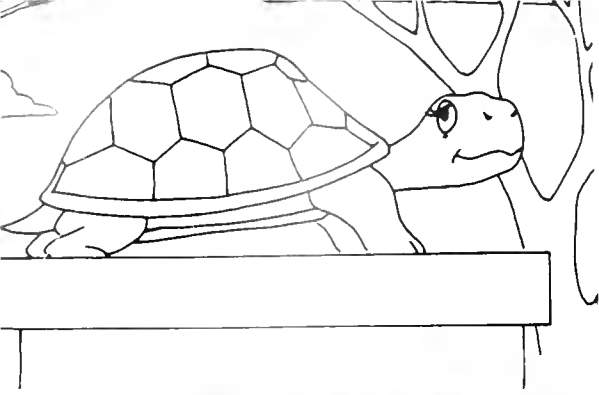

Junior: "This campus is so big – it just amazes me how the administration can keep it running so smoothly."

Welcome New Alumni

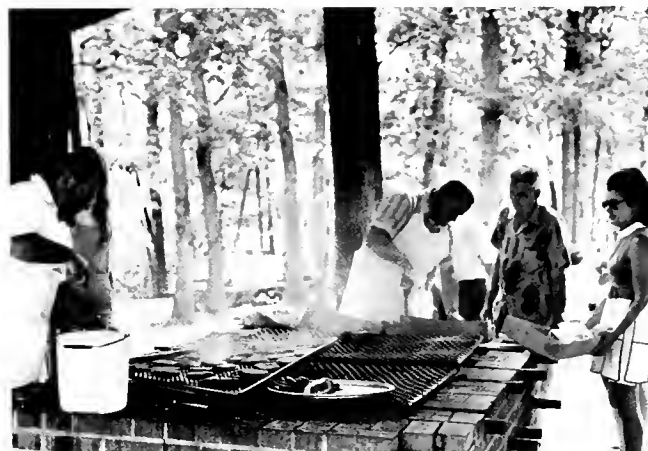

Your Alumni Association welcomes you, members of the class of 1973, to its ranks. We congratulate you on your academic achievements.

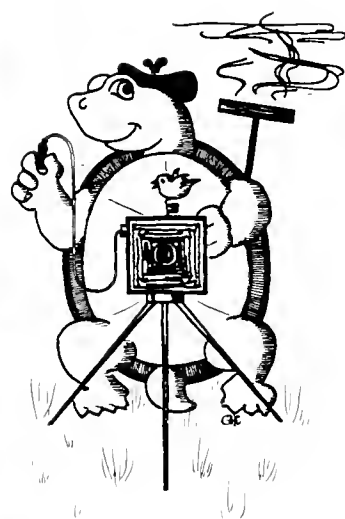

Commencement is a beginning, not an end: the beginning of a new career, new friendships, a new life style.

But it is not the end of your relationship with the University. As a graduation gift, the Alumni Association has given you a free membership for your first year as an alumnus. Take advantage of the wide variety of activities open to you as a Maryland grad.

The Alumni Office is located in the Main Administration building. For information about alumni programs call 454-4011.

A Complete Photographic Service

you're graduating

Now you probably aren't all choked up, but you're about to leave the campus your last few years have centered around. It changed a lot while you were here and it's going to keep changing.

You're going to want to hear about some of it. The University's basketball team will still be winning, the University will still be fighting for its life in Annapolis and the people you met here will still be doing strange and interesting things.

The Diamondback can keep you up on all of this... and the hundreds of other stories we cover in a typical year. The Diamondback covers this campus like no other organization in any medium even tries.

If you don't let us keep you up to date on the University, no one else will.

you're not graduating

You've got a few semesters or years left here, but you know someone who doesn't. They're graduating and in a few days they'll be gone.

But that doesn't mean they'll stop caring about friends and the news they'll be making. You can give a friend a real link to the University — where people care a little more and aren't quite so busy making money.

The Diamondback will mail each Diamondback and Argus/Dimension supplement on the day it's published to your home or anyone else's home for $7 a semester or $12 a year.

The Diamondback — news, sports, communication. The University — gone but not forgotten.

Special Thanks to:

Philip C. Geraci, our unofficial and unpaid advisor, who encouraged, counseled, and consoled.
Fritz Hafner, Western's representative, who was here when we needed him.
Rolla Uldriks, Western's artist-in-residence, who gave much needed help in design and layout concepts.
Kit Hardy, Western's consultant, who with much patience translated wandering notes into intelligent instructions for the plant.
